'Umbrella' Search Launched
Over Atlantic for U.S. Navy Craft

LONDON (UP)—A U.S. Navy Constellation patrol plane carrying up to 25 men vanished on a mid-Atlantic flight today and air rescue units launched an immediate umbrella search over storm-whipped seas between Newfoundland and the Azores.

The big four-engine aircraft, military version of the Constellation airliner, took off from the Argentia, Newfoundland, air station at midnight.

It failed to return tonight from a round-trip patrol mission.

U.S. air force search planes took off at dusk from Prestwick, Scotland, and Lajes air force base in the Azores. Other search craft were reported alerted as far away as Tripoli, Libya.

The British Air Ministry reported survival conditions "difficult" over most of the 1,200-mile flight route from Newfoundland to the Azores—stormy with high winds, rough seas and temperatures down to freezing.

Only within 300 miles of the Azores were conditions hopeful for ditching at sea, the air ministry said.

The U.S. navy uses Constellations as flying radar stations to guard the Atlantic coast from surprise attack. They are the frontline of offshore defence.

They are reported to carry a crew of 25 fliers, radar operators and technicians on their long patrols.

GREEN WARNS:

'Decade of Decay' Or 2-Party System

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP)—Works Minister Howard Green said Wednesday night a "decade of decay" faces Canada if it fails to return to an efficient two-party governing system.

Mr. Green, speaking at the Burnaby-Richmond Conservative nomination convention which selected John Drysdale as federal election candidate for the riding, criticized the CCF and Social Credit parties as "niggly" minorities. "There is no room for them under the British system of government."

On U.S. relations he said: "We are not afraid to look the Yanks in the eye. Our economic policies under the Liberals were too often decided in New York and Washington."

On Liberal Leader Pearson: "It's time someone pointed out that the peace of the world doesn't depend on him."

HOWARD GREEN

On the poor: "We're supposed to have no time for them but this is something that no political party can corner."

MIKE GETS TRIMMING, STARES BACK AT JOHN D.

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—Lester B. Pearson got his hair cut today by a barber who was on his way to get his teeth out.

"I'll be late for my dental appointment," said 50-year-old Jack Mountain, "but I'd even be late for my wedding to have the chance to cut Mr. Pearson's hair."

As Mr. Pearson climbed into the barber chair he stared at a familiar face—a colored photograph of Prime Minister Diefenbaker pinned to a wall.

"Oh, oh, the wrong face," he said. Then, as he saw his own photograph below, he added: "Oh that's all right."

Douks Find Russ Areas 'Suitable'

MOSCOW (CP)—A delegation of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors said today they will suggest that the sect move from British Columbia to Siberia.

William Moojelsky, spokesman for the group which seeks a new home in the Soviet Union, said in an interview here that his group found the general areas around Omsk and Altai "very suitable." They made a three-week tour of Russian areas.

Omsk is a town in western Siberia, about 1,400 miles south-east of Moscow. The Altai area of southern Siberia and northwest Mongolia is about another 1,000 miles southeast of Omsk.

REPORT TO B.C.

Moojelsky said his team will leave for home this weekend to report on its findings to the Sons of Freedom in British Columbia.

The Soviet government, Moojelsky said, has offered members of the extremist religious sect "sanctuary and freedom from all state interference" if they return to Russia. The Doukhobors left Russia late last century to escape Czarist persecution.

Moojelsky declined to say what stage negotiations with the Russians had reached but expressed himself as hopeful.

Settlement in the Omsk and Altai regions will be recommended to the Freedomsites, who number about 2,000. Orthodox Doukhobors, who number about 20,000 in Canada, are not involved in the back-to-Russia move.

Moojelsky said the rank-and-file Sons of Freedom will make the final choice.

HIGH WATER DOESN'T TROUBLE THEM

Los Angeles Flooded By Hit-and-Run Storm

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A hit-and-run storm dumped 2.32 inches of rain in 12 hours, swamped cars, flooded homes and streets, closed more than 100 schools and caused widespread damage here.

Drying out and mopping up under partly cloudy skies today, soggy Angelinos beheld up to 24 inches of new snow visible at 3,500 feet on nearby mountains.

The storm abated shortly after noon Wednesday, leaving: Damage estimated at perhaps $1,000,000 to partly built $85,000,000 steam generating plant of the Los Angeles department of power.

At least eight automobiles and two trucks completely submerged in 10 feet of water on the Santa Ana Freeway at Atlantic Boulevard.

A bridge under construction at suburban Torrance washed out. Nine Inglewood factories closed by flood waters.

FAMILIES EVACUATED
At least 20 families temporarily evacuated from flooded homes in the South Bay area—Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach, Torrance—in many cases by skiffs plied over streets turned into deep lakes.

The Los Angeles River, normally dry or nearly so, filled with water.

Office workers wading street rivers with skirts held above knees were a common sight. More than 100 employees had to leave an oil company building through back windows which eight feet of water filled the basement.

The 1,200 residents of Hamilton City, near Orland, Calif., were evacuated Thursday as more than 400 men battled to save a levee which was holding back the rain-swollen Sacramento River.

Levee "sandbaggers" were reported "keeping ahead" of the river.

Russia Appeals
For Conference
On Korea Problem
MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia called today for a conference of all interested states to discuss measures to bring about a Korean " rapprochement " to ensure peace in the Far East.

Today's statement backed up a Chinese Communist North Korean declaration Wednesday announcing the withdrawal of all Chinese troops from North Korea by the end of the year and challenged the United States to follow suit in South Korea.

Ex-Elections Chief
Dies in Ottawa
OTTAWA (CP)—Jules Castonguay, who for 20 years was responsible for the detailed mechanics involved in Canada's federal elections, died in hospital Wednesday night.

The former chief electoral officer had been in a coma since suffering a heart attack Jan. 21. Last Saturday was his 76th birthday.

Mr. Castonguay retired 10 years ago. His son, Nelson, succeeded him.

SIR WINSTON COMFORTABLE, FEVER LOWER

FRANCE (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill is comfortable and his fever is a little lower today, a medical bulletin said this afternoon.

The bulletin said the condition of the 83-year-old statesman, battling pneumonia and pleurisy, "is not greatly changed since yesterday."

But, it added, "he is comfortable, his strength is maintained and his fever is a little lower."

Earlier today, a member of Churchill's household said Churchill had a "fairly restful night."

Churchill worked in bed as usual today.

Atlas Fired, Blows Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental missile blasted off today but apparently blew up about two minutes after leaving its firing pad.

The Atlas roared straight up for about 30 seconds, then arched slowly toward the east, leaving a vapor trail in the sky.

Two minutes after the start of the flight, observers saw a huge ball of fire and the Atlas could no longer be seen.

"H. W. Gray told me he gave Sommers, $50, $250 and the bonds but Sommers didn't want to take two of the bonds at the time and he (Gray) gave them back to me. Later they were sent by registered mail to Sommers," said Eversfield.

"A year later, at about the time the Lord Commission was appointed, Gray told me that of the six bonds Sommers received he had cashed two in Victoria and another two were lodged in a Victoria bank in connection with a loan."

"He explained if there was an investigation of the bonds, Sommers would declare only these bonds (in the bank)."

"If he (Sommers) did not know the numbers of the bonds then all would have to be declared to be on the safe side in case of an investigation."

It added: "Since the Sudan is determined to defend its territory, the situation would result in a breach of the peace and, if uncontrolled, may develop into armed conflict."

Meeting in an urgent session after midnight, the Sudanese cabinet decided to appeal to the UN after Foreign Minister Mohamed Mahgoub reported from Cairo that negotiations with President Nasser had been fruitless. Wednesday it had announced that agreement had been reached.

Sudan Seeks UN Move To Thwart Conflict

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters)—The Sudanese government today appealed for immediate United Nations Security Council action to head off an "armed conflict" with Egypt.

An urgent note forwarded to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld accused Egyptian troops of "huge infiltration" across the Sudanese frontier in anticipation of an Egyptian plebiscite scheduled in the disputed frontier area Friday.

The note declared this constituted "a breach of Sudanese sovereignty."

Sommers Given Bonds Court Told

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Charles Eversfield today testified that a three-way split of money received in connection with forest management licences was arranged in 1954 between Robert Sommers and two companies.

He also said that Sommers shared in two payments made to PCS by C. D. Schultz Ltd. and B.C. Forest Products.

Referring to a $15,000 payment by BCFP to PCS, he said: "H. Wilson Gray of PCS told me one third was to go to Schultz Ltd., one-third was to go to PCS and one-third was to go to Sommers."

"Whenever he talked about these transactions he referred to them as the PCS-RES-CDS funds."

25-PERCENT CUT
In August of 1954, Eversfield said H. W. Gray informed him how Sommers' share of the BCFP cheque was to be passed to the minister.

The share totalled $3,750 after a 25-per-cent deduction was made to cover income tax that would have to be paid on the transactions going through the PCS books.

"One cheque for $1,375 was issued to J. M. Gray and one cheque for $1,375 was issued to S. W. Armitage (an officer of PCS). They would give the proceeds to him (H. W. Gray) and he would pass the money on to Sommers."

Aug. 31, 1954, the two cheques were issued as bonus payments on the salary accounts.

"Later that day I walked into H. W. Gray's office . . . S. W. Armitage was there."

"As I entered, H. W. Gray was putting a large bundle of bills into his wallet and said, 'as I recall, "That should keep Bob happy for awhile."'"

Earlier Eversfield said that six $500 bonds, paid for with funds issued through PCS, J. M. Gray and Evergreen Lumber, had gone to Sommers.

"H. W. Gray told me he gave Sommers, $50, $250 and the bonds but Sommers didn't want to take two of the bonds at the time and he (Gray) gave them back to me. Later they were sent by registered mail to Sommers," said Eversfield.

"A year later, at about the time the Lord Commission was appointed, Gray told me that of the six bonds Sommers received he had cashed two in Victoria and another two were lodged in a Victoria bank in connection with a loan."

"He explained if there was an investigation of the bonds, Sommers would declare only these bonds (in the bank)."

"If he (Sommers) did not know the numbers of the bonds then all would have to be declared to be on the safe side in case of an investigation."

Ex-Teamster Boss Faces Long Term

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck, Sr., retired and wealthy president of the Teamsters' Union, was sentenced today to up to 15 years in prison for stealing $1,900 from his union.

His son, Dave Beck, Jr., a short while earlier had been fined $2,000 and his sentence deferred three years for taking $4,650 from the teamsters.

The sentence of up to 15 years is mandatory under Washington law. The minimum term will be set by the state board of prison terms and paroles.

Judge George H. Revelle and Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll both said they will recommend that Beck Sr. serve three years.

Beck received the sentence without any show of emotion.

SEVER CONNECTIONS
In sentencing the son an hour before, Revelle had ordered Beck Jr. to pay court costs and to sever all connections with labor organizations, either as an employee or an officer.

He said the restitution of the $4,650 should come from the 37-year-old Beck's own funds.

The younger Beck had testified during his trial that he had turned the $4,650 derived from the sale of two union-owned Cadillacs over to his father in the belief the money would be turned to the union.

Beck Sr. was convicted Dec. 14 of keeping $1,900 received from the sale of a union-owned automobile. His son was convicted Nov. 23 of pocketing the $4,650 received for the sale of two other union-owned cars.

NATHAN LEOPOLD

Leopold Granted Parole

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, surviving member of the Loeb-Leopold thrill murder team of 1924, was granted a parole today.

The Illinois parole and pardon board's announcement added that "the location and occupation of subject to be investigated by parole supervision immediately."

This means Leopold can get out of prison after investigation of his arrangements for a job and a home. The division of parole supervision handles the investigation and there was no indication how long that would take.

Leopold, 53 now, has served almost 33½ years in prison for his part in the slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks in May, 1924.

Roger Touhy, one-time Chicago gang leader who was serving a long sentence for kidnapping and a prison break, was granted a parole. His parole on the kidnapping charge makes it possible for him to be freed in August, 1959.

N. Ontario Beaten
CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Northern Ontario, beaten in an extra-end playoff last year for the Canadian high school curling crown, ran into similar trouble today as it was toppled from the undefeated ranks in the 1958 championship series 8-6 by Ontario. B.C. defeated Newfoundland.

Heroic B.C. Girl Guide Wins Award

TORONTO (CP)—Joan Stewart, 15-year-old girl guide from Terrace, B.C., has been awarded the Girl Guides' Gilt Cross for "her bravery and quick action in preventing an accident when a youngster wandered on to a race track at Kispiox, B.C., last summer."

In announcing the award today, the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides Association said:

"While Joan Stewart was participating in a horse race on the Rodeo Grounds at Kispiox, B.C., a small child wandered on to the race track into the path of a horse. When Joan realized the danger, she tried to stop the horse."

"In previous races of the day this particular horse had appeared to be very high spirited and had been very difficult to stop at the completion of each one. Consequently, when Joan stopped it so suddenly, she was thrown against the fence rail and received a bad blow on the head."

The Girl Guides said they did not know the name of the youngster.

'BELEAGUERED AMERICA'

Tough Battle Faces Ike on Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (CP)—Reaction by congressmen to President Eisenhower's request for nearly $4,000,000,000 in new foreign aid funds indicates the program faces a tough fight.

Eisenhower, presenting his request Wednesday, said a sharp reduction in his request would mean ultimately a "beleaguered America" all but alone in a Communist world.

Republican Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont supported the president today. Congress, he said, should be cautious about making any drastic cuts "lest it add to the recession."

Back-Bencher Praises A-G For Action in Sommers Case

Ringling praise of Attorney-General Robert Bonner and his actions in the Sommers affair was heard in the Legislature Wednesday from a new government back-bencher.

William Speare, elected in the 1957 election, said in a September, said he was thankful for the attorney-general's refusal to release the Butler RCMP report.

He said he resented the "sordid appeal" made to other Social Credit back-benchers to stand up and be counted following the action taken by J. Melvin Bryan in crossing the floor of the House.

Mr. Speare is one of the few government members to come to Mr. Bonner's defence in the Legislature.

"I am urged to say this because I believe to stay quiet might indicate a reserve of decision which I do not hold," he said.

"There has been an alarming lack of appreciation by this legislature for the structure of the parliamentary system."

"I believe our people can be eternally grateful that our forefathers saw fit to separate the judiciary from the legislative and the executive."

"I was never more thankful for this than when I saw in the House proposals to make political use of a police document."

That was the technique that made Hitler powerful, Mr. Speare said.

"In all this villifying and

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A man who changes his political affiliations is always suspect. And Bill Asselstine, as a former minister of mines in the B.C. Liberal and Coalition governments, has been received with caution on all sides since he returned to the legislature as Social Credit member for far northern Atlin.

Whether he was right or wrong in changing his party, most of us agreed after hearing his speech Wednesday night that he is a 100 per cent mining man.

Speaking towards the close of a wearisome day, he talked of nothing but mines and miners and said: "I came back here to do something for the North and, before I leave, I'll do it."

It was for no other reason that I joined the Social Credit ranks.

Mr. Asselstine added cautiously that no one ever tried anything without making mistakes and he confessed he had had doubts about the administration up north until he was reassured by Premier Bennett and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan that it would be improved.

"That means you are only with the team sometimes," interposed CCF leader Bob Strachan.

"When I was with the old team I played ball," answered Mr. Asselstine. "When I quit, I quit cold. Now I'm with the other team I'll play ball, too."

Two leading lights of the B.C. Humor Society—John Post and Harold McDonald from Vancouver—sat in the public galleries Wednesday afternoon and declared they had lots of fun.

Before taking the plane to Victoria they sent a wire to their newest recruit, 83-year-old Tom Uphill:

"Would sure like to see the clambake. Will bring our own lunch. Would like to know, do visitors wear shoes in the legislature?"

Asked how people joined the B.C. Humor Society, John Post replied:

"They don't join us, we join them."

He explained that in order to be joined by the society you have to say or do something really funny.

So far the society has attached itself to only two members of the legislature—Tom Uphill and Highways Minister Gagliardi.

But it is on the look-out for new recruits and Premier Bennett has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Dan Campbell, the school teacher member for Comox, managed to wrap up a little Canadian history with his contribution to the budget debate and in an effort to elevate the House said:

"I don't think the fathers of Confederation were too interested in politics."

"Ho, Ho!" responded CCF leader Strachan cynically. Ignoring the interruption, Mr. Campbell insisted the fathers had set forth the democratic policies of good government.

Towards the end of his speech, Mr. Strachan remarked:

"Now I know why people complain about the calibre of our schoolteachers."

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Aid to Good Students Favored

By BEN CROW
Western Research Surveys

The great majority of people in Greater Victoria would like to see both financial assistance and moral encouragement given to bright university students.

More than nine citizens out of ten would approve of the federal government seeking out persons of scientific ability with a view to encouraging them to attend a university. Eight out of ten would approve of the government paying the tuition and, if necessary, the board of students in engineering, mathematics, and the physical sciences.

But Russia's Sputniks are not the prime reason for this attitude. Almost as many persons would approve of the federal government paying the costs of all students with outstanding ability.

A poll of 100 representative homes also revealed a wide variety of opinion and unanimity of interest. (Every respondent had an opinion.)

Some of the ideas expressed

may be grouped as follows:

1. Assistance should be given in the form of scholarships.
2. Only students of ability requiring assistance should be helped; those with means don't need help.
3. Students receiving substantial assistance should agree to reside in Canada.
4. The government should supply free tuition, but not board.
5. Some sciences, like medicine, are of equal or greater importance than engineering or the physical sciences.
6. We need scientists, and other trained persons are necessary. Look at Russia!
7. We should not be stampeded into emphasizing science. Other studies are important too.
8. This program would make taxes too high. There would be too many free loaders.
9. Students should not be required to work for the government upon completion of studies as a condition of help.
10. The only qualifications should be ability and sincerity. Family influence should not be allowed to enter into decisions of acceptance.
11. All students should have assistance whether they have ability or not.
12. There are ways and means of going to university now if a person wants to badly enough.
13. Many persons have ability but are still not worthy of assistance.
14. Assistance should be given all students, but discontinued if they cannot prove their worth at university.
15. Partial aid should be given if needed, but this should be partially repaid.

'New' Pearson In Blistering Tory Attack

TORONTO (CP)—Lester B. Pearson launched new attacks against the Progressive Conservatives Wednesday night in such a fervent, hard-punching speech that political reporters following his campaign commented: "This is a new Pearson."

The former external affairs minister addressing a York-Southwest nomination meeting pleaded for a mandate so that he could help end the feeling of "suicidal terror" that stalked the world and to restore better relations between Canada and the United States.

He spoke of the four Conservative cabinet ministers who went to Washington last year "to deal with the U.S." on trade and other matters as "four power hitters who all struck out."

He urged voters to examine

SIDNEY SMITH... he's shocked

Pearson's Viewpoint Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith said Wednesday night that Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson was wrong in saying during his election campaign that Canada's place in international affairs depended on the return to power of the Liberal party.

"I congratulate Mr. Pearson on his award of the Nobel Peace Prize," Mr. Smith said, "but I have been shocked at his attempt to bring international affairs into the election. If the award has given him such a big head as to think his party is the only one that can assure Canada's place in world affairs, then he is wrong."

Mr. Smith spoke at a meeting which nominated John B. Hamilton, member for Toronto York West in the last House, to run again as Progressive Conservative candidate.

BACK-BENCHER

talk of high principle, one man and one alone has borne the burden of protecting this principle.

"We are privileged to have serving as attorney-general a fine Canadian and outstanding British Columbian. His war record and personal background attest to his ability."

"I believe it to be far above those who would attempt to crucify him on the altar of public opinion."

Mr. Speare concluded: "I have a deep abiding faith in the thinking of the people, who will judge the issue in the balance of time."

Later in the afternoon, another government back-bencher, Dan Campbell, also spoke of the Somers affair: "The people of Comox decided to send me here on September 19, 1956. I do not question the thoughts they had in respect to the political-legal case which hangs over this legislative assembly."

"This case hung over the election campaign in which I participated. I took the stand then as I do now that everyone connected with the disputed case must have their day in court."

"To me no principle transcends the concept of a 'day in court.' In this case, courts mean both the legal court and the ballot court and in the latter case at least all of us must some day stand for judgment."

"I believe in the good sense of the citizens of British Columbia."

WALTER HARRIS... "grossest fraud"

Tories Claiming Liberal Projects Harris Charges

HAMILTON — Former Liberal finance minister Walter Harris said Wednesday night many of the projects listed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the $1,185,000,000 works program his government plans in 1958 were included in Liberal estimates he himself tabled last year.

"If the prime minister is trying to suggest this is something new, it is the grossest fraud perpetrated by a government of Canada," said Mr. Harris.

Prayer Service

A special speaker at the World Day of Prayer meeting Friday at 2 p.m., in First United Church will be Mrs. Geoffrey Smith, missionary on furlough from Northern Rhodesia, Africa. Mrs. Smith is well-known in Victoria where she spent her girlhood. She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Armistead of this city and a sister of Mrs. H. H. Youson. Friday evening at 8, Rev. Norah Hughes will speak.

TOO LITTLE TOO LATE

The Conservatives had been complacent last fall when they should have launched a bolt attack on unemployment. They had talked of diverting trade instead of increasing it. They now talked of huge public works but that was "too little and too late."

Canada was spending more than $1,000,000,000 a year on defence. If world tensions could be eased, Canadians should think of what could be done with that money for resources development and other projects. The world was being haunted by a feeling of "suicidal terror." It was as though East and West were holding loaded pistols at each other's heads, each trembling lest the other pull the trigger.

Mr. Pearson hoped that as prime minister he would be in a better position to fight for world peace.

Earlier at a reception with some 50 ethnic editors, Mr. Pearson said one of the best ways of gaining headway towards world peace is to split the forces of national communism and Russian imperialism. That would be the first step. The next would be to get the deviating country to decide its own fate. It would decide in favor of freedom—"for no country would choose communism of its own free will."

JOHN D. GLEEFUL

Liberal Premier Picking Tories?

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—John Diefenbaker, a skillful lawyer before he became prime minister, has depicted Newfoundland's Premier Smallwood as forecasting a March 31 federal election victory for the Progressive Conservative government.

The jury before which he built up his case was an audience of some 1,600 here Wednesday night. His "evidence" was a letter received from the Liberal premier earlier in the day. He said gleefully that Mr. Smallwood "with unusual precision" had asked in the letter for legislation in Parliament to provide federal aid for power distribution lines.

EXPECTS TORY WIN

Mr. Diefenbaker's thesis; that could only mean the premier expects there will be a Conservative government to take such a step in the post-election Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker's audience here, second-largest in his week-end campaign, jammed the big "armoury" of the Church Lads' Brigade, an Anglican Church cadet organization.

He emphasized his government's recent action in boosting federal tax-sharing payments to Newfoundland by $1,686,000 a year and in giving the province $7,500,000 in special fiscal aid grants as part of $25,000,000 annual special grants to the Atlantic provinces.

He also said that an "informal" federal-municipal conference later this year might lead to new tax-collecting resources for municipalities to ease heavy real estate taxation, and that Newfoundland might be eligible for low-cost federal loans for hydro power projects.

Teachers Blacklist Whole South Island

Every school district south of Nanaimo on Vancouver Island is now included on the B.C. Teacher's Federation blacklist.

BCTF issued a list to all members this week naming all districts where agreements have been signed between teaching staffs and school boards. Teachers wishing to change jobs and those expected to graduate from colleges of education here and in Vancouver, are advised "... we expect that you will refuse to apply for, or accept a position in any district not on the list..." Over 20 school districts in the province are not on the approved list.

53 KILLED IN SHIP EXPLOSION

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (AP) — A British freighter that put into this Persian Gulf oil port with a fire and 150 tons of explosives aboard exploded at her anchorage Wednesday night, burned and partially sank.

The ship's agent said 53 persons were killed and 19 injured.

The fire and explosion caused no damage to oil tankers nearby and did not endanger harbor installations.

The 7,440-ton Seistan, one of the most modern ships in the British merchant fleet, was burning when she entered the gulf three days ago, en route from Liverpool with the explosives and other supplies for the Iraqi oilfields.

Death Robs Man Of Century Mark

VANCOUVER (CP)—Duncan McIntyre, who was older than B.C., died Tuesday in the old man's ward at Marpole infirmary here.

He would have been 100 years old March 7, and the first B.C. resident to celebrate a century of life in centennial year. Centennial officials were preparing to bestow honors on him. The official anniversary of B.C. is Nov. 19.

Details of McIntyre's early life are not known. Infirmary superintendent Mrs. Mary Law managed to find a daughter in Bellingham, Wash., Mrs. Jesse Riffe, who said her mother died

57 years ago and McIntyre had his children adopted by other families. "When we found my father was alive we planned to bring a big birthday cake to him," Mrs. Riffe said. "My own daughter's birthday is on March 7, too, so it would have been a double celebration."

The Facts of Unemployment

MR. DIEFENBAKER TOLD Parliament on January 20 last that Canada was "on the slide, really on the slide when they (the Liberals) left power on June 21."

Yet last November, Mr. Diefenbaker assured the assembled provincial premiers that unemployment was "a temporary situation this winter" and "this Government has taken active measures to meet this short-term situation and is taking additional ones."

The minister of labor said, on December 10: "There is hardly an economist or a student of the situation who does not feel the unemployment situation is merely temporary and that, given a brief breathing pause, the natural buoyancy of the economy will reassert itself."

This bubble of complacency was shattered a few days ago when the Diefenbaker Government's own statisticians reported 520,000 Canadian workers out of work. As the labor force is 5,891,000 persons, nearly one in ten is unemployed.

We now have in Canada an undeniable, deep and alarming unemployment problem which cannot be cured by Mr. Diefenbaker's soothing speeches.

He blames it entirely on the former Government. In Parliament on January 20, he said: "Is there anyone who will tell me that the present situation is not directly attributable to the failure of the former Government to realize that the economists had pointed out the terrible danger that faced Canada's economy?" (The "terrible danger" had become a "temporary situation" within six months under Mr. Diefenbaker's administration.)

The answer to Mr. Diefenbaker's question will be supplied by any non-partisan economist. It is that the present situation, whether temporary or otherwise, was not caused by the former Government.

It was not caused by Mr. Diefenbaker's Government either. Mr. Pearson has been scrupulously careful to say that over and over again. He does not blame Mr. Diefenbaker for causing the recession.

It would be outrageous to do so, as this newspaper has always argued. The recession was caused by world forces outside Canada's control and will be cured by those same forces in due time—provided the economy of Canada is not too rigid in its cost structure to adjust itself to them.

Mr. Pearson has been fair in refusing to blame the present Government for our unemployment problem. Mr. Diefenbaker has been outrageously unfair in blaming his predecessors for it.

But the causes of the recession are water over the dam. The only practical question today is how the Government proposes to deal with the recession.

Obviously the Government doesn't know. It is floundering, and as it flounders it is speaking out of both sides of its mouth. On one side it says the recession is nothing to be alarmed about. On the other, when blaming the recession on the Liberals, it speaks of a "terrible danger."

To be sure, no Canadian Government of itself can repeal the root cause of the recession in the world market but a Canadian Government with a clear plan and a bold approach can do much to limit and palliate the results of the recession.

Obviously the present Government has no such plan. Its works program, however desirable, will take many months to show its effects on employment and those effects, even then, will be spotty. Directly they will affect relatively few people. Indirectly they cannot quickly reach thousands of workers physically unable to work at manual jobs.

Mr. Pearson proposes to tackle the problem directly, quickly and in all parts of the nation by reducing taxes and increasing the public's purchasing power. Even that, of course, will not cure the recession but it will help much more than Mr. Diefenbaker's haphazard remedies.

The public can choose between these two statesmen. But when a Government has been in office since last June 21; and in effective control of all national policy for eight months; when it discovers a "terrible danger" on taking office; when, in early winter, it sees no danger after all but only a "temporary situation"; when marginal unemployment suddenly throws almost one in ten workers out of work; and when, in a panic, the Government calls an election to escape the task of dealing with these problems, then the public is entitled to ask whether it can expect any solution from that Government.

The answer comes out of the latest unemployment figures for January—and they will grow in February. In the light of those figures it is perfectly clear, whatever the origins of the recession, that the Government should have remained in office, rejected the temptation of a snap election and grappled boldly with the nation's number one problem.

Instead, the Government has fled to the country and can think of nothing better than to blame its predecessor.

About all this there is a weird touch of Nero and the sound of a fiddle.

Heavy Flow From Britain

LAST YEAR HEAVY EMPHASIS was placed on Canadian efforts to provide asylum in this country for victims of communist oppression in Hungary.

The nation welcomed the freedom fighters.

At the same time, with less fanfare, Canada was greeting an increased flow of immigrants from Britain—a spectacularly increased flow.

In 1957 the number of people leaving that country doubled the total for 1956—and most of them came to Canada in each year.

An analysis of emigration trends shows that in recent years nearly three-quarters of all Britons leaving home go to Commonwealth countries. Canada is the most popular, followed by Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

In 1956 a total of 95,000 went to these countries, 41,000 to Canada. Last year the total was 191,000 of which 110,000 made this nation their destination.

Canadian authorities are inclined to discount the importance of the Suez affair as a decisive factor in immigration. They believe the intensive "Come to Canada" campaign has been a significant influence in directing immigration this way. And they note an element in the trend of immigration beneficial to Canada and of serious concern to Britain.

The British immigrants contain a high percentage of younger skilled and professional people who believe that they can do better elsewhere than under the low pay rates and heavy taxation prevailing in Britain.

Such people, of course, inject a vital and valuable element into the Canadian life stream. Moreover they add to the Canadian population possibly the most easily assimilated group that comes from other shores. In addition to preserving a balance in favor of English-speaking peoples in this country, they share common traditions and ideals with Canadians.

This development is seen as one of the reasons prompting the Government's move. It should do much to remove resentment that may have been building up, and it could result in greater production.

That the collectives will gain a larger say in the determination of price is less likely. The Government would not be prepared to raise the price of produce to itself.

Inefficiency of the tractor stations may have been another cause. The owner-driver principle could result in better care of the equipment.

But a very practical reason, divorced from politics, has been advanced in some quarters. This is that Mr. Khrushchev, pressed for capital to expand industry, has tapped a large source of funds by selling the farm equipment to the collective farms. The latter have amassed considerable liquid assets in recent years, and these must have been a tempting sight for a government in need of money.

What Price Tradition?

LOOSE ENDS

Are You a Democrat?

THE current national election, the 11th which I have covered as a reporter (a horrid reminder of mortality) is the most baffling to date. Perhaps because I am older and crankier than I was in the election of 1921, I find it increasingly difficult to make out what the politicians are talking about. I suspect that they experience the same difficulty. At all events, if the various items of nonsense being talked in this election were laid end to end they would stretch to the moon and back by now.

long before any rocket gets there. And the moon is welcome to them.

I SET aside such items of whimsical mendacity as the charge that the Liberals or the Conservatives caused the business recession; that the Liberal Government knew about it in advance and hid this knowledge; that we would be enjoying a boom if the existing Government did the right thing; that interest rates are the real cause of our troubles and so on. This sort of nonsense is not worth a moment of any sensible voter's time.

No, I am baffled rather by a simple, human question which strikes far past the absurdities of the campaign to the roots of the democratic process itself. The case of Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson, two human beings, illustrates what I mean.

MR. DIEFENBAKER is accused of acting like a politician, as if that were a disqualification for public office, almost a crime. In what other conceivable capacity should he act?

If he didn't act like a politician he would be unfit to lead any government. His profession is politics. His job is to manage an actual political system as it exists, not some imaginary dream world of philosophers and angels. That is what he has guaranteed by solemn oath to do. That is what he is paid for.

Still more curious and complicated is the reaction of many voters, otherwise sensible, to Mr. Pearson. When he was chosen Liberal leader those voters either deplored his fall from foreign statecraft into domestic politics as if he had suffered a grave moral lapse; or else they said, on the contrary, that Mr. Pearson was a great international statesman but could never make a successful politician.

THOSE who consider it a moral lapse to engage in domestic politics have an odd view of democracy. They seem to be insulting Mr. Pearson when they are actually insulting themselves by saying that the political process and the voters at large are immoral.

They are saying, in fact, that any man who associates with them must be debased by their own low character. Well, an individual has the right, I suppose, to rate himself that low but he has no right to say that the general public is no better.

Those who said that Mr. Pearson could never make a politician are now complaining when he acts like a politician. They got precisely what they asked for and now they are dissatisfied.

WHAT on earth did they expect from Mr. Pearson? Did they expect him to confine himself, as a party leader, to the stratosphere of international affairs, to abstain from any domestic controversy, to disregard politics, to repudiate the democratic process and to say that the people of Canada were beneath his contempt?

Did they wish to make him Prime Minister because he had no views or policies? Did they suppose that the highest political office of the land should be filled by a professor, a plumber, or a head shrinker? Did they want "the country governed by the principles of Karma or Yoga or by a human being like themselves?"

NOW, I can understand a communist advocating a dictatorship and a Canadian Khrushchev. I can understand a fascist advocating a Canadian Hitler. I can understand a Social Cretedier who wishes to make Mr. W. A. C. Bennett head of the national government, or a socialist who thinks that Mr. Coldwell would be still better (a sentiment with which I certainly agree).

But I cannot understand a democrat demanding that politicians should not practise democracy. I cannot understand why any literate man should urge that politics be taken out of government when politics, of course, is only the mechanics of the democratic process.

WHAT, in truth, are the politicians of all sides trying to do? First, they are trying to get elected. And if you say that this, of itself, is a dishonorable ambition you are saying that the people, including you, are dishonorable in voting for these men.

Secondly, the politicians are trying to reconcile, without the alternative of civil war, the huge, sprawling and contradictory interests of the nation's various regions, classes and economic groups.

They are not attempting to erect some ideal state, knowing by long experience that this is impossible at our present primitive state of evolution.

They are seeking a workable and constantly changing compromise. It will never be ideal or even consistent. It will be a triumph if it works at all, especially in a country as diverse and contradictory as ours. And it can be accomplished only by the method we call politics or, alternatively by force. There is no other way.

YOU cannot take politics out of government and have any democracy. Without democracy you cannot have any personal freedom. Without politicians you cannot have either.

There are many reasons to criticize our two leading politicians but the fact that they are politicians is not one of them. As well criticize a doctor because he practises medicine or a humble worker because he knows his trade.

As Our Readers See It

Jealousy?

Mr. J. G. Jenkins' pastime of shooting darts at the CCF target suggests jealousy of the support their brand of socialism receives as against his brand of a godless and moneyless state of society. Can anyone imagine the horror of workers' wives being deprived of their visits to the bargain counters.

W. A. JENKINS.

Consider the Lilies

In a short while the Easter lily or dog-toothed violet (Erythronium) will be in bloom around Victoria.

This beautiful flower will go the way of a lot more of our native flowers, out of existence unless we protect them and leave them in their native habitat.

It takes five to seven years to develop before raising its first flower stem, and is propagated from the seed and not from the bulb as many people think.

Its greatest abundance is within 30 miles of Victoria though it extends north to Comox.

The rarer plant, the pink lily, grows northward from Cowichan Lake, though there are some to be found in the Sooke area.

The public is asking the governments and the municipalities to set aside land for public parks, to preserve some of nature's wonders. So the people themselves must do all they can to preserve the flora that can be shared with others that follow us.

Parents should instruct their children not to go out into the fields and woods and pick these beautiful flowers by the handful and—as is often done—cast them along the roadside.

Let's make it our motto "Leave be for others to see."

FREEMAN KING.

Grow Up or Blow Up

Mr. H. V. O'Reilly's statement in Friday's "Times" that "millions are in accord" with Cyrus Eaton's views on foreign policy, is a clear statement of fact.

It is just as clear that because of Eaton's industrial status and personal stature his caustic but constructive criticism of foreign affairs is given the publicity it is entitled to but wouldn't otherwise get. Still, not being in his position is no excuse for our failure to publicly express what we privately believe.

Just think what it would mean if those of us whose views on foreign affairs and human relations coincide with Mr. O'Reilly's would likewise speak out through the press! Wouldn't such action help to create the articulate public opinion which alone could induce Canada to speak out on foreign affairs in her own voice as a nation, not in echoing acquiescence to Dulles' "brinkmanship?"

Thus asserting herself, Canada would logically become the meeting-place for "a broad international conference of scientists" and other leading representatives of our common humanity. As surely, the main purpose of the conference would be to formulate a basic minimum program or plan for world agreement on peace.

Failing such or similar agreement, acceleration of the arms race with precarious balancing of nuclear striking power between East and West is bound to so increase nerve-wracking tension that sooner or later some "trigger-happy" neurotic, without orders, will fire the fatal shot, stampeding a distracted world into self-destruction.

Obviously, in a world-conscious sense, in recognition of our common humanity we've got to grow up, or blow up, although to be merely blown up or blasted out may well prove to be an enviable exit.

JOHN MCNAUGHTON.

Deep Cove.

Another Centennial

In conjunction with British Columbia's centenary this year many of us will celebrate another and a more widely-spread one, that of the apparitions at Lourdes in France (which inspired Franz Werfel's "Song of Bernadette"), in memory of which a Marian Year has been proclaimed extending from February of this year to February, next year, approximately the time covered by the apparitions in 1858.

In 1854 Pius IX had proclaimed the dogma of the Immaculate Conception of Mary; that is, that she was always free from original sin. In 1858 a "Beautiful Lady" seen by Bernadette Soubirous in the grotto at Lourdes told the girl that she was "The Immaculate Conception." When at another appearance (there were 18) the little girl at her bishop's bidding asked her to authenticate the fact. She told her to dig a small hole near her. Water, issued from this hole until it nearly filled the grotto. It has remained now for a hundred years and wrought a series of miraculous cures, besides attracting unnumbered thousands of pilgrims.

Pius XII, in proclaiming the centennial, has invited all Christians to ask the Virgin to plead with her Son for a solution of the world crisis. That she is interested is evident from her more recent appearances at Fatima in Portugal to three children through whom in 1917 she foretold the war of 1939-45 and the emergence of the Russian menace. She also counselled prayer and penance lest worse later ensue.

The Red menace has since engulfed a fourth of our world and has a fifth column of atheistic materialists scattered through the rest of it who deny God, Christianity, a moral code, and those spiritual absolutes on which the destiny of man depends here and hereafter. Evidently not only Christian civilization but the survival of the race is now at stake. The Lourdes centennial is a plea to the Prince of Peace, through His Mother, to bring peace to the world. Just a coincidence that it comes in B.C.'s centenary year.

J. J. GABRIEL.

FROM LONDON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Room on a River

THE room is colorlessly comfortable, without character except for the superb view of the Thames through the wide windows. The room's inhabitant suggests a particularly spry bird. The nose is beaklike; the shock of white hair is a superb crest, and even the voice, high, dry and sometimes a little harsh, is decidedly avian. Such is Lord Russell, at the age of 85 and in the midst of his inexhaustible career's new phase as a most powerful influence on British and world opinion. No one with any sense of history can first encounter Bertrand Russell without a spasm of downright incredulity. There he still is, you say to yourself, yet he said his ABCs to the man who moved Britain's reform bill of 1832 and reached the prime ministership before Palmerston.

Alsop

The grandfather, Lord John Russell, bore the largest single share of the responsibility for ushering England into the new democratic age; and in order to do so, he helped drive from office the men who beat Napoleon.

Nuclear Ban

The grandson has been a dozen things—great philosopher, great logician, First World War pacifist, Second World War anti-Nazi and always a passionate libertarian and a passionate anti-Communist. But now his life and work are dedicated to a vigorous crusade to ban the nuclear weapons at all costs.

Age has not dimmed the power of his mind or increased his appetite for self-delusion, either. What sets Bertrand Russell altogether apart from the vast majority of his fellow crusaders is mainly his honesty in facing hard facts and hard choices.

"I am for controlled nuclear disarmament," he says briskly, fixing his caller with an eye that is almost hypnotically sharp.

Survival Test

"I am for any negotiations, any first steps, any efforts that may promote understanding—anything, in short, that may bring controlled disarmament a little nearer. What is at stake is simply the survival of the human race; for if we go on as we are going, we risk a nuclear war, and the human race will not survive such a war."

There is something in him—something perhaps of those "ancestral voices prophesying war" that Coleridge heard in his dream—that makes one reluctant to interrupt the flow of his explanation. But the question has to be asked: "What if the Soviets cannot be induced, by any imaginable effort, to agree to controlled nuclear disarmament?"

Then, he says with sharp emphasis, "I personally am for unilateral nuclear disarmament. It is a bitter choice. I have thought much about it, and I do not think I deceive myself about its nature. Unilateral disarmament is likely to mean, for a while, Communist domination of this world of ours."

"As you know very well how I feel about the Communist system, my choice may surprise you—and mind you, I speak only for myself, not for anyone I am working with, and with little hope of persuading others.

"But if the alternatives are the eventual extinction of mankind and a temporary Communist conquest, I prefer the latter. It would be inexpressibly horrible, but it would not endure, any more than Genghis Khan's altogether horrible empire endured. And the end of the human race on earth is, after all, an absolutely irreversible event."

He hesitated for a while after stating his ultimate choice. Then he began to set forth his arguments that "same men among the Soviets must be just as disturbed as sane men on our side to find themselves in this prison of the balance of terror."

Sensible Stages

We have not really tried, he kept repeating; we have not really tried to reach agreement by sensible stages and equal concessions. And so he fell to analyzing, in great detail and with much shrewdness, the various schemes for first disarmament steps, disengagement in Europe, closing the nuclear club, and all the other expedients now so much discussed.

At the close, he was asked another question, whether he did not think that it was better to maintain the "balance of terror" until the Kremlin gave stronger proof it was ready to negotiate. And to this he replied again. "I tell you, if we go on as we are going much longer, we risk the end of the human race."

As one left the simple room, the mind's eye held a vision of the grandfather's time—Wellington's dispatch rider driving furiously into London with the Waterloo-victory standards of Napoleon's guards poked out of the carriage window. And to make the contrast in time, the mind's eye held the echo of the dry, precise old voice of the grandson, setting forth his alternatives for the H-bomb age as he grimly perceives them.

You may think his advice altogether wrong, as does this reporter; but this was still a voice deserving to be heard and carefully considered in the final judgment.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

I have spent most of my life either fighting or preparing to fight opponents, whom I know only as names and records. I study their past records, paying attention only to their competitive patterns and skills. It never occurs to the boxer to question an opponent's racial or religious background. In the ring, as it should be in everyday life, all men are equal. You are judged only on your ability to compete, to accept victory or defeat gracefully and on your personal performance in the ring. There is no room for prejudice in any form in the character of a champion. I will hang up my gloves if the time ever comes when I look upon an opponent as a Negro, a Jew, a Protestant or anything else other than a brother.

How You Gonna Keep 'Em . . .

MR. KHRUSHCHEV'S RECENT decision to sell the equipment of the state's machine tractor stations to the collective farms, so that the latter can be mechanized in their own right, opens up a whole new prospect for Russian agriculture. The economic and political possibilities inherent in the move have roused considerable speculation in the West. So far it has remained at that point; Moscow has given no explanations for the change in policy.

The late Marshal Stalin consistently denounced such a policy, holding that the collectives should not be given control of the mechanical means of production. There was much to be said for his stand insofar as retaining farm state control was concerned. While the collectives provided only manpower they were more closely under the thumb of the communist bureaucracy.

The new policy will give the farms greater control of their own operations, and the political aspects of this development are seen as one of the reasons prompting the Government's move. It should do much to remove resentment that may have been building up, and it could result in greater production.

That the collectives will gain a larger say in the determination of price is less likely. The Government would not be prepared to raise the price of produce to itself.

Inefficiency of the tractor stations may have been another cause. The owner-driver principle could result in better care of the equipment.

But a very practical reason, divorced from politics, has been advanced in some quarters. This is that Mr. Khrushchev, pressed for capital to expand industry, has tapped a large source of funds by selling the farm equipment to the collective farms. The latter have amassed considerable liquid assets in recent years, and these must have been a tempting sight for a government in need of money.

The Magic Year

WHEN she was grown, Rachel used to refer to it as "the Magic Year." It was the childhood year when she had the run of her Aunt Carola's books, and it happened casually enough.

Rachel and her family from overseas had arrived at grandmother's flat in Chelsea, and, somehow, they had all to be fitted in.

"Rachel can have the little room," said grandmother. "I don't use it nowadays. In fact, it's chiefly full of Carola's books. She won't part with them, and she has no room for them at the school where she's teaching now. So there they stay. I don't suppose Rachel will mind."

Rachel didn't. Transported to a different country, cabin'd, cribb'd, confined by city life, the books were her solace, and their characters her companions to make up for those she'd left behind.

For the most part, Carola's books were myths and legends, folk and fairy tales—the sort of books that modern educators of the more pragmatic kind have frowned-upon as "non-factual" and apt to lead a child into deceptive and fantastic voyages.

Rachel's grandmother, less faint-hearted, preferred to talk about the natural heritage of children, and to quote something strange and unintelligible about magic elements, the foam of perilous seas, and fairy lands forlorn.

So Rachel voyaged far and wide for a wonderful, unguided, drenched-in-magic year. She travelled in the peasant land of the Brothers Grimm, with its dwarfs and elves and woodcutters and talking animals of the forest. She consorted with grander folk of the French fairy tales.

The mist-enshrouded Norse mythology, the legends of ancient Greece and Rome, the sad and tenderly perceptive world of Hans Andersen—all these came into the Magic Year.

Hercules cleaning the Augean stables, Narcissus gazing at himself in the pool, Theseus fighting the Minotaur, Cadmus sowing the dragon's teeth, Demeter searching for her daughter—Rachel read about them all with a sort of heady wonder.

From the great unknown, she plucked them one by one until they became a great and glorious if slightly muddled company. Holy Grail and Gorgon's Head, Beowulf and Bacchus, Tom Thumb or the great God Pan—it didn't matter much to Rachel.

"She reads too much," said open-air Aunt Lydia, who believed in nothing so much as a good brisk walk to clear the cobwebs from your brain.

Grandmother laughed. "She's overdoing it a bit, and her mind must be the queerest mixture by this time. But it's the first fine careless rapture. It never really comes again, Lydia. And it's only for the inside of a year. Such a little time to have a grandchild. Besides, she's learning the facts of life."

"From fairy tales?" said Lydia, startled. "If it's facts of life she's after, you'd better take her to the zoo."

"Really, Lydia," said grandmother, growing just a little pink. "We're discussing different things and on a different level."

"These fairy stories that you scoff at are true with the truth of vision and experience."

"Beauty who found that her ugly beast was in reality a prince, the fisherman's wife who abused the wishes the flounder granted to her husband, the cross daughter whose spiteful words came out as ugly toads, little Kay trying to spell the word 'eternity,' the endless quests for the shining unattainable treasure, the almost-unto-death battles against the fearsome monsters—how can you disbelieve in them or write them off as rubbish?"

"In their different ways, they are true, wise stories about human nature and the human spirit. So true and wise that perhaps you have to be rather old and sad and battered before you can fully understand them."

Men Who Quit

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

There is a disease of the spine, which, in the course of a few months, causes it to become, as we doctors say, ankylosed. This means that all the vertebrae become stuck together solidly, so that the spine comes to be like one bone. As a result, the man has to walk in a peculiar way, often with his head bent over a bit, so that he looks somewhat downward. Often his neck is so stiff that he cannot look around without turning his body. In an occasional case, the thigh bones will become firmly fixed to the hip bones, and then the person must live for the rest of his days either standing up or sitting down.

We doctors used to think that this spondylitis was a peculiar form of rheumatoid arthritis, but a new blood test now indicates that the two diseases are not related. Spondylitis seems to be a peculiar disease which usually attacks young men. As I said, within a matter of months the spine is badly injured. So far as I know, there is no cure. X-rays are commonly used to give some relief from pain. After the process has quieted down and the joints of the spine have been destroyed, there is likely to be less pain.

MAN WHO QUIT
One day an able professional man in his late forties failed to go to his office, and he never went again. He could give no reason for this, and naturally his wife was left worried and puzzled and much upset. The question was, had he become a bit psychotic, like some of his relatives, or, during the night, had he had a little stroke? Careful questioning of his wife brought out the fact that, during the preceding six months, he had had several little strokes. After one of them he had been a bit confused and dizzy and weak for six days. Another little stroke left him full of fears and feelings of discouragement. Shortly before he quit work, he woke one morning and found himself unable to get out of bed. Later, when he got up, he could not stand without help. For the rest of that day, when he tried to stand, he would fall to the left.

Because of these happenings, I felt it most probable that the man's wife was right in her hunch that he had quit work because another little stroke had come during the night. Two years later I felt the surer of this as I watched the man slowly become less and less interested in life, less active, less firm in his walk, and less interested in keeping himself clean and neat.

Another man was more fortunate. He, too, in his fifties, suddenly quit work. He looked all right, and aside from some dizziness, he seemed to be well, but at his office he could not even answer his mail. When I asked his wife how the trouble started, she remembered that the evening before, as he was helping her wipe the dishes, he had slumped to the floor. For a while he said he was dizzy; and his right hand was numb and clumsy, but next morning he seemed all right.

When, a few months later, I saw him and put him on iodides he soon regained his health and went back to work. Six years later, he was doing well and running his business.

Some other men I have seen who suddenly quit work in their forties or fifties and could not or would not give any explanation of their behavior seemed to me to have a mild dose of a psychosis—either schizophrenia or a depression. And this, of course, is easily understandable. Many a mildly psychotic person feels he has to maintain a constant fight to hang onto his sanity, and sometimes he gets so tired of this that for a while he gives up. He is like the alcoholic who says that every hour of every day he has to fight to keep himself from going out and getting drunk.

I so admire these hundreds of thousands of men and women who, in spite of their daily fight with fears and compulsions, hang on, and keep sane, and do a fine job in this world. Often it is only their doctor and their close relatives who know what a terribly hard fight it has been—and still is.

TINKERING WITH TRADE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Former Liberal fisheries minister James Sinclair blamed "Tory tinkering with trade" and the Diefenbaker government's refusal to produce a budget as major factors in unemployment.

The Coast-Capilano candidate said in a TV appearance Wednesday the public works program announced by the Progressive Conservatives will not solve the jobless problem.

Mr. Sinclair said that "because of uncertainty" on financial policies of the Diefenbaker government, capital investment has dried up, new plants and plant extensions postponed, so cutting employment."

Permanent Crops Top Vegetable Starters

The season seems far enough advanced to risk a sowing of early vegetables. Nothing is quite so pleasing as the first peas, carrots and potatoes with that wonderful freshness from the garden, sweet, palatable and full of vitamins.

The wisest move would be to start with the more permanent crops such as rhubarb, raspberries and asparagus. These are permanent inasmuch as they will occupy the space for more than one season. Several asparagus beds have been started by me but all have been failures. I believed the books when they advised planting the long, succulent roots 18 inches deep. This, of course, meant about 12 inches below soil level and right on hardpan, a position which made it impossible for them to survive. Martha Washington or Mary Washington, her sister, are the varieties best suited to local conditions and home gardens.

Jack

If patience is not your long suit, buy good plants from your nurseryman. Several local nurseries have a stock but rarely is it advertised.

From seed, the plants will take from four to five years to come into bearing, and this is a long time to wait even for the younger generation.

Use plenty of humus in the trench as deep as possible, leaving a fair amount of soil to cover the hardpan and form drainage.

As the plants grow, the earth will be worked back into the trench with cultivation, which is a very important phase of asparagus production.

Education Ad Drive Set

OTTAWA (CP)—A country-wide advertising drive in support of education was announced today by the Canadian Advertising Agency Board. It was estimated to be worth between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 in facilities and space contributed.

The board, comprising 170 of the country's leading advertisers, announced the project as the first of a series of public service activities it intends to undertake.

Daily and weekly newspapers, periodicals, radio and television, advertising space on public transportation and outdoor billboards are to be used.

Merle M. Schneckenburger of Montreal, board president, announced the drive today to the Canadian Conference on Education. Mr. Schneckenburger said the advertising campaign, in both French and English, will be based on material produced voluntarily and largely without cost by advertising agencies' copywriters and artists, engravers and printers.

Member companies would either substitute in their own publicity programs the advertisements to be made available or would insert part of it in their own displays. The drive would start in late March and continue for a minimum of three months.

New Zealand had a record total of lambs born in 1957, estimated at 28,050,000.

Spot announcements had been prepared for radio stations and illustrated material was in preparation for television stations. The text of his announcement was issued to the press before delivery.

New Mining Law To Be Amended

A former provincial minister of mines took a critical look at B.C.'s new mining legislation Wednesday night and said he was far from satisfied.

But William Asselstine, now the Social Credit member for Atlin, said he had been assured by Premier Bennett and Mines Minister Kiernan that "every wrong" caused by the new act will be righted.

Mr. Asselstine, minister of mines in the Liberal government from 1937 to 1941, said he was opposed to the ending of Crown grants.

The new leasing system has had a "detrimental effect on mineral exploration and kept companies away from B.C.," he said in the legislature budget debate.

SPECIAL TAX HIT

The former minister also criticized the special taxes on iron ore aimed at discouragement of export and creation of a basic iron and steel industry.

Anxiety to develop a steel industry influenced the government too much in framing the new legislation, he said.

The government was trying to "baby-sit" on a relatively small tonnage of known low-grade ore in the hopes of getting a smelter.

"We need to develop millions of tons," Mr. Asselstine said. "We should let the companies come in and drill on a profit basis, because profits make the wheels go round."

The government gets a share of revenue from ore that is exported, Mr. Asselstine said.

The Social Credit member said he "found it embarrassing" to talk to his mining friends in his northern riding after the new legislation was passed last spring.

NOW SATISFIED

"I was mad, I don't mind telling you. But I'm satisfied with what I know of the (new) bill now, every wrong will be rectified."

(Mines Minister Kiernan said in the legislature last week he hopes to bring down a new, consolidated Mineral Act this session which will include modifications to the leasing system. There will be no return to Crown grants, however, the minister said.)

Mr. Asselstine said the government had made a "mistake" with the new legislation last session, but he was as much to blame as other members of the House.

"It's a rare government that's getting things done that doesn't make some mistakes," he said.

Mining companies who abandoned exploration projects last year, will be back "when they find we've made the necessary adjustments."

"We should do everything we can in a legislative way to encourage these companies."

Prospectors should have "something they can sell" after staking and recording a claim, instead of having to wait for his five-year exploration lease to expire.

Police Quell Tory Ballot Squabble

MONTREAL (CP) — A Progressive Conservative meeting to choose a candidate for the riding of Montreal St. Ann.

The skirmishes had abated when five constables rushed into the meeting hall and there were no arrests. The meeting was adjourned at the request of the candidates — Steve O'Toole, Gaspard Ethier and Gerald Sullivan.

Eight police cars arrived on the scene when the trouble erupted at an open meeting in a downtown hotel that drew some 1,000 persons to select a candidate for the riding of Montreal St. Ann.

The fist fights started after the ballots had been distributed. Several persons said they had received five or six ballots and demanded an explanation.

Two men tried to remove the ballot boxes from the hall and were pushed and knocked down. Punctures were thrown.

At this point, a call was made to a nearby police station.

Payments of Big Sums Told Sommers Hearing

Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—The prosecution's case began rolling again Wednesday afternoon after Charles Eversfield completed 11½ hours of identifying documents that form the basis of the bribery and conspiracy charge against Robert Sommers.

Opening the first installment of his "explanation" of the 100-odd documents he identified, the former bookkeeper for Pacific Coast Services Ltd. testified:

1. Sommers visited PCS soon after becoming lands and forests minister, which was followed by increased interest in forest management licences by the company.

2. Sommers was to get half of a $15,000 payment by B.C. Forest Products, related to a forest management licence, with the minister's share to be passed through three hands before reaching him.

3. H. Wilson Gray, of PCS, paid a $142 entertainment bill for Sommers and ordered allocation of a $2,500 cheque for BCFP to cover expenses for Mr. and Mrs. Sommers, Gray and others on a trip East.

4. Gray signed a form for a telegraphic bank transfer of $2,500 to Sommers after making certain it could not be checked by outsiders. He also indicated he would not sign another form required by the bank.

5. The transactions involving Sommers were kept separate from PCS business records because the company was almost broke.

15-Page Bill Filed

Charged with Sommers are H. W. and John M. Gray, BCFP, PCS, Evergreen Lumber Sales, Ltd., C. D. Schultz, Ltd., and Charles D. Schultz.

Earlier, city prosecutor Stewart McMorran filed a 15-page bill of particulars, to amplify the charge, which alleged that Sommers received $13,107 in cash, bonds and goods during a 16-month period spanning 1953 and 1954.

The particulars also charged he awarded a forest management licence contract in 1951 and another in 1955.

The particulars also alleged that BCFP paid out a total of $118,996 to the other defendants including $2,500 to cover travel expenses for a trip to Toronto by Mr. and Mrs. Sommers and H. W. Gray.

The documents also alleged H. W. Gray arranged a meeting between PCS and Schultz Ltd. accountants to draft a reconciliation of money received for a "three-way split."

Schultz was accused of arranging in 1954 with H. W. Gray "to pay 10 per cent of commissions on government business to PCS to be paid over to Sommers, later rearranged to 5 per cent, later to 3½ per cent and later to 4 per cent."

The particulars also alleged that Schultz instructed his staff in 1953 to change entries in company books, rewrite some ledger sheets and "to remove incriminating records of the company."

Eversfield testified that "shortly after Sommers became minister of lands and forests he was in the offices of PCS. After that there was an increase in interest in forest management licences by PCS."

Various Expenses

He said he made reimbursements to H. W. Gray and paid other bills for various expenses in March 1953, including one bill for $142 on which Gray wrote "re entertaining minister of lands and forests and family." Travel expenses in June 1953, also were paid including a sum run up by Sommers.

"In November 1953, H. W. Gray told me a trip was to be made to the east by Mr. and Mrs. Sommers, himself and others," he said. "He told me we would be receiving $2,500 from BCFP to cover the expenses of this trip."

"He gave me this as a reference," Eversfield said referring to a list of figures totalling $2,500. "He mentioned a sum which he would give to Sommers, in the neighborhood of $300."

"He also said he would give me about $1,250 to buy tickets and he mentioned a sum of $300 he would carry himself."

Later, before purchasing the tickets, Eversfield said he was in Gray's office and "he had a cheque in his hand. I glanced at it and it was for $2,500. I can't recall how it was made out but I was satisfied it was from BCFP."

Refunds Arranged

When Gray returned from the trip, refunds were arranged on unused portions of the tickets, Eversfield said.

"The majority of the tickets were not purchased with company funds and Gray told me the money would be refunded to him."

Referring to a bill for $607 sent to PCS for three rugs ordered by Sommers, Eversfield said:

"I eventually paid it, charging it to notes payable account. In other statements it was charged against Sommers' funds."

Eversfield said he was instructed by H. W. Gray on the wording of debit memo sent by PCS to BCFP Nov. 19, 1953, for $15,000 in connection with a forest management licence.

He told me that when the money came, half was to be given or set aside for Sommers, minister of lands and forests. There was much discussion on how it was to be accomplished. "It was decided that H. W. Gray would withdraw from PCS the funds that would go to Sommers."

Nicholas Mussallem, counsel for Sommers, interrupted to say that the witness was not saying who made the decision. He said it was "very difficult" for the defence because the case might go to a jury that had read the papers.

Alfred Bull, QC, counsel for Schultz Ltd., objected to the testimony as irrelevant because no proof had been submitted that any of the money had gone to Sommers.

Cheque Deposited

Magistrate Oscar Orr, referring to post office registration certificates, said "there are two original documents here that would be proof in any court. You are saying there is no evidence of payment. I am saying there is some and this testimony can go in."

Eversfield, continuing, said H. W. Gray instructed me to place $125 (of the BCFP payment) in his account. Part of that was to be transferred to J. M. Gray and J. M. Gray would transfer part of that to Evergreen Lumber."

Eversfield said he deposited the $15,000 BCFP cheque and transferred $5,000 to H. W. Gray's account. Later he deposited an additional $125 in Gray's account.

This was done when "Gray told me he had arrived at the final amount of the share of the $15,000 to go to Sommers," Eversfield said.

"This he calculated for me as half the $15,000, less 25 per cent, less $300 which at the time was used as the figure for the rugs. This resulted in $5,125 owing Sommers."

"Gray said the 25 per cent would be subtracted from Sommers' share to pay the taxation for the Sommers' money, because it was passing through the company's accounts."

"At that time PCS had a deficit of $145,000," Eversfield said. He pointed out to Gray that although in that situation there would be no tax problem, the company was liable to pay more than 25 per cent in tax if it began running up profits.

"Shortly after he told me to leave it at 25 per cent because he made those arrangements and he did not think he could disturb them," Eversfield said.

Dec. 1, 1953, H. W. Gray told him he wanted to transfer $2,500 to Sommers immediately and asked "about the traceability of a bank transfer," Eversfield said.

"I suggested the bank manager would know better than I would so we went to (Carl) Loth, then manager of a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in Vancouver."

"Gray asked him what record there would be of it and how much access other people would have to the record."

"The manager replied there would be records but they wouldn't be available to other people. The transaction was arranged at that time."

Mr. Loth filled in a cheque and Gray signed it. He also signed an authorization for the $2,500 transfer. But he didn't sign an undated promissory note the manager filled in. Gray took the promissory note when he and Eversfield returned to PCS, said Eversfield.

8 Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, FEB. 26, 1958

Gray gave a resume of the conversation with the manager to an unidentified officer of the company, said Eversfield.

Gray said in effect "I don't think we fooled him but he won't say too much, or 'there is no cause for alarm,'" Eversfield testified. "He also produced the promissory note, laughed and said he had no intention of signing it."

'Wasting Time'

Mr. Bull rose to object that "we are wasting a lot of time. There are 44 pages (in a statement by Eversfield to police) and the witness has hardly deviated a word from the first 10 pages. Why not just file the statement as an exhibit?"

Magistrate Orr said the prosecutor was free to conduct his own case.

Eversfield said the plan for transferring Sommers' share of payments to PCS through H. W. Gray was made to keep the transactions separated from PCS funds.

"The company was in dire straits and H. W. Gray said he wanted them separated in order that they wouldn't be used up before getting to Sommers."

Dealing with a debit memo billing Schultz Ltd. for $10,000 in Dec. 10, 1953, Eversfield said he made the entry after it was worded by H. W. Gray.

"He informed me that the money was coming to Schultz Ltd., $15,000 as I recall, from Tahsis Ltd. and two-thirds was to come to PCS."

Eversfield said Jan. 8, 1954, he spent a "busy morning at the banks" when he deposited the $10,000 Schultz Ltd. cheque in the PCS bank account, issued a $6,750 PCS cheque and simultaneously deposited $3,750 in bank accounts of H. W. and John M. Gray and Evergreen Lumber.

H. W. Gray had told me that Sommers was to receive $3,750 and he himself to receive $3,000," Eversfield said.

On Feb. 5, 1954, a cheque for $1,000 was drawn on Evergreen Lumber. The cash was put into an envelope inside a box and sent to Sommers by registered mail, said Eversfield.

Dealing with six debit memos for $500 each billed to Schultz Ltd., Eversfield said:

"We (PCS) were so short of funds I told Gray we were in a dangerous position. He said he would see Schultz. He came back and said advances of $500 would be coming."

In February, March and April of 1954, three $500 payments were made to PCS by Schultz Ltd. Three subsequent bills for a total of $1,500 went unpaid by Schultz Ltd. and in October 1954, the arrangements were recorded in the PCS ledger as cancelled.

"Gray told me these payments would come in another manner," Eversfield said as he concluded his second day on the stand.

To a final question put by the magistrate, Eversfield said he was a shareholder in PCS. But he didn't know whether he was an officer of the company "because they never held a meeting."

During the morning session, while Eversfield was identifying documents he made on instructions of H. W. Gray, a defence counsel accused him of concocting a scheme.

"I object to this whole series of documents made in the witness' own handwriting as self-serving documents made by the witness for his own purposes," said J. R. Nicholson, counsel for the Gray brothers, PCS and Evergreen Lumber.

"They are simply some notes made by the witness. I don't deny that it may have been part of a scheme but it was a scheme of his own."

However, Magistrate Orr allowed the documents to go into the record.

'Give Him Some Room, Pal!'

While New Westminster goalie Bev Bentley is down after saving shot from Victoria's Doug Macauley (14), defenceman Steve Hymanak uses football-type block to keep Cougar Tom McCarthy (8) away from puck, and Hugh Barlow of Royals moves in from left to clear, Cougars staged two-goal rally in final 10 minutes at Memorial Arena Wednesday night to score a 4-3 Western Hockey League victory.

EVERYONE SEEMS HAPPY EXCEPT RIVAL GOALIES

MONTREAL (BUP)—Hockey's greatest scorer returns to the game tonight on home ice. Maurice (Rocket) Richard, the only National Hockey League player to score 500 goals—he has 504 in regular season play and another 70 in playoffs—will be wearing Canadiens' sweater when Montreal meets the Boston Bruins at the Forum.

It will be the first time the 36-year-old right winger has dressed for a game since he was put out of action with a cut Achilles tendon more than three months ago. Coach Toe Blake planned to ease his top star back into action gradually, using him on the power play and perhaps on an infrequent regular turn or two.

Alberta Defeat Big Lift for Tod

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Tom Tod, a 17-year-old skip from Fort William, Ont., has his Northern Ontario rink in first place with a 6-0 record as the Canadian high school curling championships enter the final five rounds.

Three rounds were scheduled today and the final two will be played Friday.

Northern Ontario met Ontario this morning, had a bye this afternoon and plays New Brunswick tonight.

Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island trail Northern Ontario with 4-1 marks.

ALBERTA BEATEN

Tod's well-schooled crew topped Alberta from among the unbeaten in sixth round play with a 9-4 decision. In the afternoon round they took Quebec 7-4.

Double victories also went to Pete McLeod's Manitoba foursome who won 12-3 over British Columbia in the evening round and upset Prince Edward Island.

Sunday Curling Prize-Winners

Rinks skipped by Dick Pick, Mrs. Alma McKibbin and Bill Gilhooley captured the three prizes in the recent Sunday Commercial Curling League's bonspiel.

Pick, skipping Jim Tang's entry, defeated Hill for A event honors while Mrs. McKibbin's foursome downed Anderson in the B event final. Gilhooley beat Gardner in the third event final.

A total of 32 rinks have been entered in the league's play-downs, which get under way Sunday. Two draws will be held in the straight knockout competition this weekend with the third and fourth draws scheduled two weeks away.

1:30 p.m.—Eagles No. 2 vs. Moir; Tony House vs. McBrider; Taylor vs. Tang; Bill House vs. W. Gallagher; Dwyer vs. Gardner; Riches vs. Beech; Douglas vs. Pavel; Carson vs. Vernon.

3:30 p.m.—Hill vs. Shes; Gilhooley vs. Empress Motors; McLeod vs. Okerstrom; Renfrew vs. Goodwin; Russell vs. George Hotel; Jones vs. B. Gallagher; Anderson vs. Wright; Balloch vs. Overgaard.

GAME CANCELLED

The Vancouver Island senior "B" basketball playoff scheduled for Central Junior High tonight, between Dickinson and Dunn and Chemainus, has been cancelled it was announced this morning.

NOT LONG TO WAIT NOW

Times Open Tough Test for Golfers

Island golfers who have confined their winter shot-making to weekends only might pause today and check the calendar. It may be later than they think.

The first of the area's major tournaments, the Vancouver Island Open, is less than six weeks away from tee-off time. In terms of weekends, for those who prefer to brush up their strokes then, there are only five left.

The Island's top tournament, the Times Open gets under way March 30 with the qualifying round at Uplands Golf Club.

The open is a tough test for shot-makers and one that requires consistent shooting since competitors must play on each of the city's four major courses. Only twice since 1950—when the event became the top tournament on the Island fixture card—has a golfer captured the Times Trophy on his home course.

And only one golfer—Uplands' Eric Hiberson—has managed to win the event twice. Hiberson won in 1950 and again in 1954. Defending champion is Joe Briggs of Gorge Vale, who last year defeated Colwood professional Bill Court, 3 and 2, in their 36-hole final at Uplands.

Other former champions are Bob Fleming, now an unattached professional; Bob Morrison of Uplands, and Bill McColl, Laurie Kerr and Ted Colgate, all of Colwood.

The field will once again be limited to 120, with entries accepted on a "first-come, first-served" basis. Official entry forms will be published in The Times next week and must be forwarded, along with a $3 entry fee, to Leo Derman, Gorge Vale Golf Club secretary.

Deadline for entries is March 26. The top 32 gross scorers will qualify for match play in the Open and 32 low net scorers will compete for handicap laurels, won last year by Jack Galbraith of Victoria Golf Club, who scored a 2-and-1 victory over Dr. Roger Ross of Gorge Vale in the final round.

First round of match-play will be held at the Oak Bay course April 6, the second at Colwood on April 13, and the third at Gorge Vale April 20. The first three rounds will be 18-hole tests. The 36-hole semifinals will be played at Uplands April 27 and the finals, also 36-hole affairs, at Oak Bay May 4.

Cougars Had Dull Party Until Serving Dessert

Hart Saved Best for Last As Cats Clipped Royals 4-3

Royals 3, Cougars 4

By DOUG FEDEX

Serve a tasty dessert and your guests will often forget a mediocre main course.

And Victoria Cougars are still on the good-host list today only because they finished what was otherwise a dull Western Hockey League party with a mouth-watering morsel of excitement.

Roy's Future In Doubt

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The future of Roy Campanella remained clouded today.

Time loomed as an all-important factor in determining whether the Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher will recover from the broken neck he suffered in an auto accident Jan. 28.

The 37-year-old athlete, a patient in the Glen Cove Community Hospital, still is paralyzed from the hips down. Campanella's condition is unchanged and his muscle strength has not improved since his admission three weeks ago.

A statement issued Wednesday by Harry Gifford, administrator of the hospital, said, "The longer the paralysis remains unchanged the less one can expect for the future."

The bulletin was issued after consultation with the various doctors who have been associated with the case. No mention was made about the likelihood of Campanella ever playing baseball again.

There was no hint whether further improvement was expected, but the statement said, "We are still hopeful that the patient's paralysis will improve."

Campanella's general medical condition was termed "satisfactory." The baseball player's wife thought he showed improvement Wednesday when she visited him. Campy eats the hospital breakfasts but Mrs. Campanella says she takes him lunch and dinner "because he likes my cooking."

But the Cougars saved the best for the last, battling from behind in the final 10 minutes and holding on through the hectic closing stages to end a four-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory and make the fare almost seem like a feast.

Serving up the best portions were Art Hart and goalie Emile Francis.

Hart touched off the Cougar surge when he completed a picture play with Gordon Haworth and Eddie Dorohoy to even the count at 3-3 at 10:20 of the final period. The speedy winger, who had scored only one other goal since coming to Victoria in a trade with Seattle, was back to bang in Doug Anderson's pass six minutes later for the winning tally and his first two-goal effort of the season.

Francis, sensational all the way, was superb as the Royals buzzed around his cage in the closing exchanges. He made an almost unbelievable catch on Pat Hannigan's point-blank drive seconds before Hart fired the winner, and then slid out to block sharp-shooting Gordie Fashway on a clean break with two minutes left.

Cougars were hanging on at the end and after Royals had pulled goalie Bev Bentley for another attacker with 45 seconds left, Francis again saved the decision with great saves against Fashway and Art Jones.

LITTLE TEAMWORK

Although both clubs generally turned in dull performances through the first two sessions, there were some bright individual performances other than Emile's acrobatics.

For the Cougars, defenceman John Yanchuk, although he allowed Dick van Impe to steal the puck and give New Westminster the lead in the opening minute of the second period, made some good plays. Haworth was hustling all the way and the Tom McCarthy-Cordie Wilson-Doug Macauley line gave Bentley some anxious moments.

Bentley came up with another solid chore between the pipes and Hannigan was a one-man gang on attack. The Royal winger made it 2-0 for Royals at 10:03 of the second and was beaten by Francis on six other ticked shots.

Haworth and Macauley squared the count for Victoria before the second period ended and little Arnie Schmutz sent the Royal City crew in front again early in the third to set the stage for the closing Cougar surge.

The defeat was a severe blow to New Westminster's hopes of catching the Coast Division leading Vancouver Canucks, leaving them 13 points behind the pace-setters with only 15 games remaining.

Cougars kept their mathematical chances of a playoff berth flickering, moving within 23 points of third-place Seattle. They meet the Canucks at Vancouver Friday and get a chance to slice four points off the Seattle margin when they tackle the Amers here Saturday and at the Sound City Sunday.

ANNUAL MEETING

Hampton Little League will hold its annual general meeting tonight at 7:30 at Hampton Park Hall. Parents and others interested in Little League activities are urged to attend.

Nanaimo Visitors Push City Squads Into Hole

Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association teams will have their hands full in Nanaimo next week if they hope to move along the provincial midget and juvenile playoff trails this year.

Playing in Memorial Arena Wednesday in the first game of their two-game, total-goal series, Victoria midgets went down to a 6-3 defeat before the Hub City visitors and Nanaimo Juveniles scored an impressive 10-3 win over Victoria.

Nanaimo juvenile Dan Zolob put on the strongest scoring display of the day when he scored five goals and assisted on another. Nanaimo's midget winners were led by Mike Scott, who fired a pair of markers.

MIDGETS—Nanaimo—Mike Scott 2, Len Sagar, Terry Martin, Don McLeod, Alf Wakeley, Mike Woodley. Total—9.

SPINNING THE SPORTS SPHERE

Gene ("I used to be very conceited but now I'm the nicest guy and the best rasser you ever met") Kiniski may gain much of his loquacity from his mother. The big guy who created such a ruckus at Memorial Arena the other night when wrestling made its season's debut, is noted for his eagerness to enter any discussion that concerns Gene Kiniski. His oral artistry must have been acquired through heredity. His mother has been a successful aldermanic candidate in Edmonton on several occasions.

Bearpaw (Gene—not Julia) was quite put out when he arrived in Victoria and discovered that promoter Nick Zubray had not arranged a television interview.

"How come," Kiniski stormed, "ain't I on television?" Try as he could, the promoter couldn't quite get in the last word as he attempted to pacify Kiniski. "Don't give me any excuses," roared Bearpaw. "All you had to do was tell those TV guys that I was coming!"

Apparently, he does know which end of a TV camera is up. He takes fairly tame kiddies on a children's show in New York.

Jack Humphreys, who came out of nowhere to become chief scout for the ever-building New York Rangers, put on his muktiks and long underwear the other day to check this winter's prairie crop of hockey players, paid some nice compliments to two of the NHL team's stars.

"Both happen to answer to the name of Andy," Humphreys said. "Bathgate is a super-star and will be one of the game's greats," Humphreys said, "and Heberton is a good, honest player who gives you 101 cents for your dollar every time he's on the ice, and I mean that sincerely."

Humphreys also said Muzz Patrick is anxious to build a farm system that is second to none... he also picked Regina Pats (a Montreal farm) of the Saskatchewan league and St. Catharines Teepees, a Chicago-sponsored club, to compete for Canadian junior hockey honors this winter.

The man behind the $50,000 Centennial Open at Vancouver's Point Grey Golf and Country Club, are doing the big event up right... they've signed a Lloyd Muir as a public relations and publicity chairman and the man appears to be on the ball.

Cougars' Stan Baluk, who now will sit out the balance of the season because of his unfortunate leg injury last weekend, is a firm believer in wrist-strengthening exercises... at the insistence of his junior hockey coach, Black Jack Stewart, Stan went out and bought a wrist-strengthening gadget and noticed a slight change, for the better, in his shot after several weeks... but what really convinced him, however, was his first visit to a golf club after the hockey season.

"I could belt the ball 260 to 280 yards... before starting on those exercises, I was lucky to hit it 240."

When Matt Baldwin brings his Edmonton rink to Memorial Arena for the Canadian curling championships March 3-7, the lead on his rink will be kept busy renewing old acquaintances... the lead, Bill Price, is perhaps better known to Edmonton sports followers for his basketball and baseball ability than for his curling... before he joined the Baldwin rink last year, the poker-faced Price had been rated as one of Alberta's all-time great basketball guards... he was no slouch at second base on the ball field... Price played with Victoria players Reg Clarkson and Bernie Anderson with the old Edmonton Cubs... lad by the name of Art Worth also happened to be playing in the same league... Price, who previously was unable to step into a curling rink during the winter months because of his basketball commitments, is "sold" on the curling game now.

When will the Western Hockey League clamp down on the number of "cheap" assists being given away?... scorers are much too free in handing out helpers... and did you ever notice that it's the poor club curlier—and not the champions—that always take a half-hour to figure out which shot to try?... And usually they miss... There should be a 20-second rule in curling to cut down the three-hour games... city amateurs golf champion Laurie Kerr is beating the drums for the Cougars' golf tournament March 16... anyone can enter... for $3.

Victoria Boxers Head for Seattle

Brian O'Hare, 118, and Al Curgis, 140, will carry Victoria's banner to the annual Golden Gloves boxing competition, starting in Seattle Friday night.

O'Hare is considered by many as one of the leading fistic prospects in B.C. at the present time.

The province's skeet gunners have banded together in a move designed to give the sport more teeth when biting into provincial shooting affairs.

The British Columbia Skeet Association, formed in Vancouver last weekend, has elected Robert "Dib" Noble, of Victoria, a former provincial champion, as its first president.

Vice-presidents chosen were Bill Johnston, of Victoria, and Len Parker, of Vancouver. Ken Bodwell, of Vancouver, is secretary-treasurer, and Miss Beryl Trewhitt, of Vancouver, is recording secretary.

One of the main aims of the association is to improve tournament standards and sponsor an annual British Columbia championship, as well as register provincial and other tournament scores.

The group also intends to supply all clubs with annual records and act as a clearing house for all British Columbia meets in an attempt to prevent clashes of times and places.

They also hope to be in a position of giving provincial skeet shooters a strong, unified voice in all Dominion, international and Olympic matters.

The Victoria Gun Club was given the nod as the site for the British Columbia skeet meet. Dates have not yet been finalized, but it is planned to hold the meet in August.

BOYS DIDN'T FORGET

United Spirit Shines Brightly

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Manchester United defeated Sheffield Wednesday, 3-0, in a drama-packed English soccer cup match Wednesday night—United's first game since seven of its stars were killed in the Munich plane crash Feb. 6.

A sellout crowd of 62,000, many of them wearing black ties and armbands, turned up at the Old Trafford Stadium to cheer the United. Youngsters replacing the dead or injured veterans, produced the spirit that made United one of the world's best teams.

United led, 1-0, at half-time on a goal by 18-year-old wing Seamus Brennan. Brennan got the second goal in the 10th minute and 18-year-old centre forward Alex Dawson made it 3-0 with a goal six minutes from the end of the game.

It was the sort of victory that would have brought a smile to the face of Manchester manager Matt Busby, now lying injured in a Munich hospital.

Most of the reserves were youngsters Busby had discovered playing in junior soccer.

"This was our memorial to the boys who died at Munich, and also to those still lying injured in hospital," said goalkeeper Harry Gregg.

Gregg, 23, and fullback Billy Foulkes escaped uninjured from the Munich crash and both played Wednesday night.

Before the match Gregg said: "The thing we want to show the world tonight is that Manchester United will rise again."

Backing the youngsters was the experience of players such as Gregg, Foulkes, back Stan Crowther and inside-forward Ernie Taylor.

Crowther was purchased from Aston Villa for a reported £20,000 only an hour before the kick-off. Taylor joined Manchester from Blackpool at a transfer fee of about £8,000.

Brennan took over on the left wing at the last minute. Originally it had been decided to play 19-year-old Reg Hunter.

In Munich, four United players heard a radio commentary of the match. A hospital official said "They were terribly happy."

The wives, relatives and sweethearts of the injured players were told of the United victory at a Munich hotel.

Ed Missed His Birthday Present

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—The "4,000 jinx" hung over Eddie Arcaro today at Santa Anita Park, but Johnny Longden, the millionaire jockey, booted home his 5,092nd winner Wednesday.

Balked for two days in a drive to score his 4,000th winner, Arcaro had three mounts for this afternoon and needed just one victory to reach his target.

Eddie has had tough luck for two days. On Tuesday he had six mounts but he could win only once to reach 3,999. Wednesday, his 42nd birthday, he had four mounts and only bagged two seconds, ran unplaced and his fourth mount was scratched.

Longden rode his winner by Media Via to victory in the booting home Alberta Ranches' the day. The millionaire jockey, third race.

It was Longden's only win of the day. The Millionaire jockey who has ridden more winners than any other jockey in history, is slowly rounding back into form after suffering a broken leg which sidelined him for several months.

CANADIAN SUB FLEET STUDIED, SAYS PEARKES

SHILO CAMP, Man. (CP)—Canada's defence plans may soon include a submarine fleet, Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes said in an interview here Wednesday. He said the subject is under active consideration, since many defence planners believe the submarine is best suited to defend Canada against missile-equipped subs operated by an enemy.

Mr. Pearkes said he did not believe Canadian submarines, if added to the present fleet, would serve as anti-missile bases.

"Our information indicates submarines are best equipped to locate enemy subs."

'THE CRUEL KEYHOLE'

Critics Blast BBC For Violating Taste

LONDON (Reuters)—The traditionally staid BBC has become the target of furious criticism for alleged violation of the most sacred of all British virtues—good taste.

Critics have blasted the government television network on two counts: for screening its own version of American "keyhole TV" and for showing a series of real-life medical treatment.

Three newspapers with a combined circulation of more than 10,000,000 have ganged up on the BBC for intruding on the private affairs of unsuspecting victims in "This Is Your Life."

One columnist declares bluntly that the "unpleasant" show should be scrapped. Another terms it "revolting" and "embarrassing," and a third dubs it "the cruel keyhole."

Meanwhile, the British Medical Association has launched a fresh protest against a new series called "Your Life in Their Hands." The weekly program, which had its second showing Tuesday night, features real

Safety Council Will Sponsor B.C. Rocket Clubs

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia safety council will sponsor formation of rocket clubs for interested youths.

The council's community safety section Tuesday appointed a committee to interview university officials and high school science teachers for suggestions on starting the clubs.

It went on record as being opposed to banning the sale of chemicals used in rocket experiments. Members argued cutting off their sale could be extended to forbidding purchase of gasoline and turpentine as being potentially dangerous.

Scout Church Parades Honor Founder's Birth

Greater Victoria Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies will take part in a number of church parades Feb. 23 to honor the birthday of the founder of Scouting, Lord Robert Baden Powell.

Baden Powell's birthday actually falls on the 22nd. Methodist Group will hold a Scout and Cub Concert at Metcoun Community Hall that night. Tonight, Willows group will hold a father and son banquet at 6:30 at St. Mary's Church Hall. Entertainment will be by the Cubs and Scouts.

Safer Cars Target Of U.S. House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill designed to require the manufacture of safer automobiles was introduced Wednesday by Representative Kenneth Roberts (Dem. Ala.).

It would prohibit any manufacturer from shipping in interstate commerce any automobile not equipped with safety devices to be prescribed by the federal bureau of standards.

GRUBER AT THE WHEEL

Solid Cadillac Up to Reputation

The Cadillac's reputation among motor cars is second to none. The name itself has become a symbol of all that is good and desirable in a manufactured product. The car itself, over the years, has furnished the solid ground upon which its universal respect rests.

A close examination of the latest Cadillac model, together with time spent at the wheel, would indicate that this make's reputation should continue undiminished through 1958.

The Cadillac represents the best, automotive, of which the world's largest car manufacturer is capable. That, in itself, makes this car of more than passing interest.

The Cadillac has always been a very high-quality luxury car, brought down to relatively reasonable cost by means of judicious application of mass-production techniques on the one hand, and by the car's slower-than-normal rate of depreciation once purchased.

The Cadillac is also reputed to be singularly free from minor trouble or major repair incidence over long periods of time and high mileage. Its appearance has undergone but evolutionary changes over the years; while it is fully modern, in the American sense, in its 1958 guise, it continues to resemble, unmistakably, earlier Cadillac cars. These things go a long way toward explaining the car's relatively slow rate of depreciation.

The power output of its engine is, on paper, matched or surpassed by other makes of car directly competing with the Cadillac, and even by some cars in lesser price brackets. But only a power-crazed lunatic would complain of the Cadillac being lacking in performance.

On the other hand, there is but one other car made—in England, and at double the price of a Cadillac—which attains this degree of mechanical smoothness and silence of running.

The Cadillac engine, now as before, is an inherently quiet one, rather than one made artificially so by liberal use of sound-deadening materials; these, to be sure, are not skimped on the Cadillac either, but they are not as necessary to interior silence as in other cases, but merely serve here to remove completely any suspicion that there is a 325 h.p. V-8 monster at work under the hood.

Of all the cars made, the Cadillac is perhaps the one one might select for easiest negotiation of rush-hour traffic. It is a very large car, but included in the price are power steering, power brakes and, of course, hydramatic transmission, which go a long way toward being the car's size and weight.

Yet, the Cadillac "62" four-door model is the most compact, in overall outside dimensions, of all American luxury cars, and shorter even than several less expensive cars. This, to me, is an out-and-out advantage.

Change In Chassis

The 1958 Cadillac has undergone one radical chassis change from previous practice, and that concerns the rear suspension. It is now by means of coil spring and trailing arms, rather than by leaf springs, which also located the rear axle. This change resulted in an almost unnecessary softening of the ride—but then that was not the chief reason for the change. Rather, the new suspension system lends itself to a simple production switch to full air suspension, which you may have this year to order on the Cadillac.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Susan Taffier, aged 10, of Albany, N.Y., for her question:

Where is the Northwest Passage?

For almost 400 years the Northwest Passage, from Europe to China, was an unfulfilled dream. Then, on June 16, 1903, a brave little sloop called the Gjoa sailed from Norway into the Atlantic. She was piloted by Captain Roald Amundsen, a famous explorer. Since boyhood he had dreamed of finding the Northwest Passage.

It was a long, perilous trip. The Gjoa (pronounced "Jo") rocked in terrific storms. Winds drove her off course. Ice blocked the way. But Amundsen drove on, across Melville Bay and Baffin Bay. He spent three winters in the Arctic, stopping to make scientific observations, then sailing on into the ice and snow that seemed limitless.

Finally, on Oct. 19, 1906, the Gjoa sailed into San Francisco Bay. She had become the first ship ever to travel the Northwest Passage.

The dream began in the 16th century when Europe carried on a brisk trade with China. The trade route was the sea and the trading vessels were small sailing ships. "Bold" mariners took these frail ships around the Cape of Good Hope and some even rounded the stormy waters of Cape Horn.

Gave Name to Hudson River

The third trip was made for the Dutch East India Company. The ship was the Half Moon with a crew of less than 20. Hudson started east again but his crew persuaded him to turn around and try for a northwest sea lane. He sailed by Newfoundland and into New York Harbor. He sailed up the river which now bears his name to a place where Albany now stands. He turned back when he was sure that this was not the way to China.

Hudson's fourth, and last, trip was sponsored by a group of Englishmen. He set forth in the Discovery on April 17, of 1610. He made directly for Davis Strait between Greenland and bleak Baffinland. He sailed through Hudson Strait and on Aug. 3 he entered the largest land-locked sea in the world, the cold, icy bay which now bears his name.

Winter came and the ship was locked in ice. When spring freed them, a mutiny was led by a sailor named Henry Greene. The mutineers took over the ship and Hudson, his young son and seven sick men were set adrift in a small open boat. Greene was slain by Eskimos and the rest were jailed when they reached England.

Henry Hudson perished in his search for the Northwest Passage through the icy waters of the Arctic. No one succeeded until the Gjoa, almost 300 years later.

Does the kiwi have wings? Is that chicken-sized animal a bird? No wings in sight and he certainly has no tail. What's more, he seems to be covered with shaggy, dark fur. Nevertheless, this Kiwi fellow is a bird. That shaggy coat is really made of thread like feathers. It completely hides a pair of small, quite useless wings. His remote ancestors used their wings for flight. But the kiwi's wings have long since wasted to almost nothing.

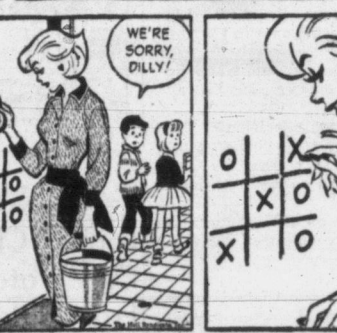

The remarkable Mrs. Kiwi lays a most remarkable egg. She weighs four pounds, her egg weighs one pound. For her size, she produces the largest egg in the bird world.

Papa incubates the monstrous egg—naturally there is only one at a time. The hatching job takes two and one-half months. The chick is completely covered with fuzzy kiwi feathers. And under the feathers is a small, quite useless pair of wings.

(BB) "THE TARNISHED ANGELS" (Odeon) — Perhaps because one subconsciously hopes that there are no persons in his world of ours quite like those depicted in Universal-International's "The Tarnished Angels," the plot suffers to a point where the whole becomes make-believe. And when that happens, of course, nothing really matters at all.

Rock Hudson plays a journalist covering the Mardi Gras of 1932. He scents a fine human interest story in First World War ace Robert Stack, now a barnstormer, his wife Dorothy Malone, who does parachute jumps, their little son Chris Olson, and mechanic Jack Carson, who also is in love with Miss Malone.

The world of the flying circus evidently is a dirty little world where, at least in Stack's case, men sell their wives for aircraft after they have washed out their own. Of course before the end of the play the love triangle of Stack, Malone and Carson adds a fourth side, namely, Hudson, and if it does not become a parallelogram it doesn't become an epigram either.

Saanich Firefighters Put in Busiest Year

Saanich firemen sweated a total 1,311½ man hours fighting fires in the municipality last year.

Fire Chief Joseph Law's annual report shows department activities in 1957 "far exceeded any previous year in the history of the department."

A total 520 alarms were answered, 132 to buildings, 105 for chimneys, 60 rescuator, 104 grass and brush, 26 for cars, trucks and trailers, 34 for rubbish and 12 false alarms.

First aid, public services and fallen wires were the remaining causes.

Equipment travelled a total 11,453 miles, men laid 74,425 feet (14 miles) of hose and crews worked at fires for a total of 412 hours, 11 minutes (about 18 days).

It was done with only five trucks, situated at three halls, and 36 men, including chief, officers and a part-time clerk. Number 1 station on Douglas attended 282 of the year's calls for help, being in the heart of the most thickly-populated area.

The Shelbourne street station took the next highest number of calls, 124, and number 2 station at Elk Lake answered 96. Cars 68 and 69, with basic emergency gear, responded to 18.

A staggering 2,373 false telephone messages reached the fire department in the 12 months of 1957, the heaviest month—October with 359 calls.

There were 157 fires not attended by the department but loss of $7,276.75 is included in the overall fire loss of $91,486.83.

Insurance covered $1,711,310 on a total risk of $2,538,914.00.

More Federal Education Aid Sought in Parley Resolutions

OTTAWA (CP) — Resolutions that spent Tuesday and Wednesday studying special aspects, called for greater federal contributions to education, either directly or indirectly through student-aid, were among 31 placed today before the Canadian Conference on Education.

But while the conference was called to study Canada's educational requirements for space age civilization, and to recommend ways in which it might be produced, none of the recommendations on which the conference was to vote during the afternoon spelled out the basic educational requirements for life in a new era.

Of the 31 resolutions, six called for federal action, 16 for action at the provincial level, four for action on federal-provincial government level, one suggested a role for the Canada Council and two industry and commerce were included in several.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE

A breakdown of the resolutions, produced in an overnight sifting session by the conference's resolutions committee from recommendations put forward by eight workshop groups tribute direct to post-high-school education.

The resolutions committee, under George Roberts, of Oshawa, national president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, labored until 5 a.m. studying more than 80 resolutions advanced by the workshops and deciding which should go before the plenary session.

The 850 delegates, gathered from coast to coast and representing more than 70 organizations participating in the conference, were to hear the workshop chairmen's reports before receiving the resolutions.

Revision of federal grants to universities and colleges in view of increasing enrollments and rising costs;

Greater federal payments to the provinces to enable basic educational standards throughout Canada;

Special federal grants for institutes of technology;

COLLEGE FACILITIES PROMISED BY CHANT

New facilities for Victoria College this year were promised in the legislature Wednesday night by Works Minister W. N. Chant.

The college must continue to grow and expand, the minister said, and has a big place to fill in the education program of the province.

"We expect this year, within the limit of our abilities, to provide some added facilities," Mr. Chant said. He did not elaborate.

Work, Discipline Asked for Brannan

More work and discipline for the young offenders at Brannan Lake Boys' School was urged in the legislature Wednesday by Mrs. Buda Brown (ASC-Vancouver Point Grey).

"Most of the boys have very little physical effort, and far too much leisure time," Mrs. Brown said.

"The school could raise much of its own food on the 100-acre property, she said.

"Rigid training for the body and mind and strict discipline instead of idleness should be a must in such an institution."

Release from Brannan Lake should be dependent to a degree on the boys' department.

Mrs. Brown said conditions are not improving at Brannan Lake, and the institution is not fulfilling what was originally hoped of it.

She proposed that it should be transferred from the department of health and welfare to the attorney-general's department.

Mrs. Brown also defended the school driver training program against criticism of the only other lady member of the legislature, Mrs. Lois Haggen (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood).

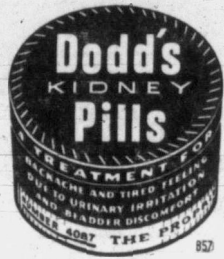

Mrs. Haggen had said such courses clutter up our high school curriculum.

Mrs. Brown said the course consists of not more than five class periods of the last three years of high school and is paid for by the students themselves and local service and business organizations.

Safe driving habits are the result of teaching, example and practice, she said, and to get the best from young drivers they must be taught.

WORKS MINISTER W. N. CHANT gave a verbal spanking Wednesday night to CCF members who questioned the propriety of donations of labor and materials to Highways Minister Gagliardi's new Kamloops church. "It ill behooves anyone in this House to question the integrity of anyone making donations to a church," Mr. Chant said. "In my humble opinion, such criticism does not auger well for any party to make such criticism in a Christian land."

WHEN? CHIDES GREGORY

Courthouse Coming!

The running feud between Works Minister W. N. Chant and Victoria Liberal member George Gregory over the capital's promised new courthouse was continued in the legislature Wednesday night.

And Mr. Chant repeated his pledge: Victoria WILL get the courthouse.

Valued Cattle Safe In Eaton Barn Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The main barn on Canadian-born financier Cyrus S. Eaton's Acadia Farms in nearby Sagamore Hills went up in flames early today, but Eaton's registered shorthorn cattle, valued at $40,000, were unharmed.

"Will I live to see it?" asked Mr. Gregory.

Mr. Chant retorted that if the life of the Liberal party was any criterion, he was doubtful.

From the moment he started his budget debate speech, the minister was needed by Mr. Gregory about the courthouse he promised during the 1956 election campaign.

"Tell 'em about the courthouse, Bill," Mr. Gregory called out, as Mr. Chant opened by saying he was pleased to speak on behalf of the capital city.

After about 20 minutes of this, the minister moved to end the banter.

The "natterings and chattering" of Mr. Gregory had nothing to do with the building of the courthouse, he said.

The minister admonished the Victoria lawyer to take a greater interest in the welfare of the rest of the province, and not to be so concerned about the courthouse.

"If talk could have built it," he said, "the Liberals would have made it as high as the Tower of Babel."

"There will be a courthouse built in Victoria, the premier and I have said so."

B.C. Staff Cut 2,000 In 6 Months

The provincial civil service was trimmed by some 2,000 workers in the last six months of 1957.

Answering questions placed on the legislative order paper by CCF Leader Robert Strachan, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black reported the number of persons on the provincial payroll at Dec. 31 at 15,539.

This compared with 17,538 at July 31. "The minister" added, however, that of this total 1,900 were "seasonally or intermittently employed."

The total of government employees at Dec. 31, 1956 was 14,923.

Gas, Oil Rights Produce $823,373

First 1958 sale of crown petroleum and natural gas rights has netted the provincial treasury $823,373.

Largest bid of $415,867 was made by Imperial Oil Ltd. and Pan American Petroleum Corp. for rights on 96,489 acres in parcel No. 101 in the Peace River area.

The same two firms paid $108,141 for rights on an adjoining 48,063 acres.

Cassidy, Qualicum Area Vote on Hospital Support

NANAIMO — Ratepayers in the area between Cassidy and Qualicum Beach are voting today on formation of a hospital district to support a proposed $4,500,000 hospital.

Voters are residents of rural portions of School Districts 68 and 69.

The new hospital, if approved, will be built north of here and will replace the 33-year-old Nanaimo General Hospital, now obsolete and overcrowded.

The vote marks the end of months of planning, and a campaign of speechmaking by hospital board members at public meetings throughout the proposed improvement area.

Communities to be served would be Cassidy, Cedar, the Wellingtons, Harewood, Lantzville, Qualicum, Parksville, Errington, Nanosee and Nanaimo.

TWO DEATHS

Impaired Driver Blamed for Crash

NANAIMO — Impaired condition of Reginald T. Patterson of Victoria was blamed by a coroner's jury Wednesday for a highway collision north of here that caused two deaths.

Victims were Mr. Patterson himself, who was driving alone, and Mrs. Ina Auer of Pleasant Valley, a passenger in her husband's car. Both were killed instantly.

Dr. J. B. Lynch, testifying at the inquest into the two deaths, said samples of blood taken from Mr. Patterson showed an alcoholic content of .31 per cent. "This represents a very high level of intoxication," Dr. Lynch said.

Hotel owners Lionel Dunbar of the Somerset, and William Croxley of the Arlington, testified that Mr. Patterson had been "normal" earlier in the evening. He had had two glasses of beer at the Somerset and part of a glass at the Arlington, they said.

Paul Auer, husband of the deceased woman, said that as he and his wife were driving home he saw an approaching car swerve into his lane. "I didn't apply my brakes because I didn't expect anything to happen," he said.

Lumber Firm Fills Three Island Posts

Three new appointments to Vancouver Island posts were announced today by MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., following the naming of J. O. Hemmingson to the post of general manager of logging.

All are effective this week. Robert H. Daines, formerly manager, Franklin River division, has been appointed manager logging, western district, with headquarters in Port Alberni.

Glen W. Hall, formerly manager of Northwest Bay, Menzies Bay and Iron River divisions, has been appointed manager of Franklin River division.

Frank P. Garrison, formerly divisional logging engineer of Sproat Lake division, has been appointed manager of Northwest Bay, Menzies Bay and Iron River divisions.

Two Guilty Of Burglary

CAMPBELL RIVER — A man and boy pleaded guilty here Wednesday to breaking and entering with intent to commit theft just a few hours after attempting to steal a safe.

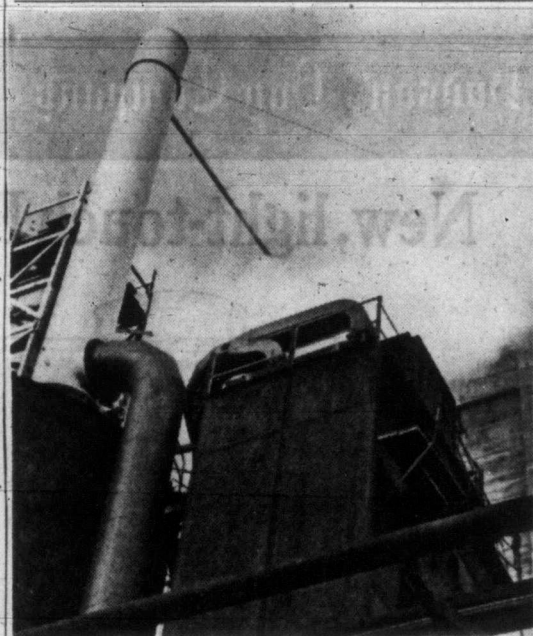

Morris Berg, about 24, pleaded guilty in police court and was remanded for a probationary report and sentence. His partner, a 16-year-old boy, pleaded guilty in juvenile court. Berg pleaded not guilty to a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency and was remanded to Feb. 24.

The two had entered Central Builders' Supply store through an upper window, had used axes from the store to break down two doors, and were attempting to load the safe on a company truck when police arrived.

They escaped on foot in darkness, but police brought a tracking dog from Parksville that led them to two homes on the outskirts of the village.

LIKE 'ROTTEN CABBAGE'

Odor Control Tried At Crofton Mill

CHEMAMUS — B.C. Forest Products is doing everything possible to reduce the odor created by its Crofton pulp mill according to an expert of the B.C. Research Council, Dr. R. H. Wright.

In a talk given by John Grieve, manager of the recently-completed pulp mill, to the Chemamus Rotary Club Wednesday night, Dr. Wright was quoted as saying B.C. Forest Products "have done as much as anyone in Canada, and more than most—with the possible exception of one Ontario mill—to reduce the kraft odor."

Mr. Grieve said Dr. Wright and the B.C. Research Council were recognized as world leaders in the approach to the pulp mill odor problem.

He likened the odor to the smell of rotten cabbage or bad eggs. He said he expected the odor would be lessened as the mill's operations settled down and the staff became more familiar with the odor control equipment.

The company has so far spent $44,350 trying to solve the odor problem, Mr. Grieve said. The bulk of this was for odor control equipment recommended and designed by the B.C. Research Council. The company has a five-year contract with the council for consulting services, which means that the company will be informed of any new improvements that can be made to its equipment as a result of the council's research.

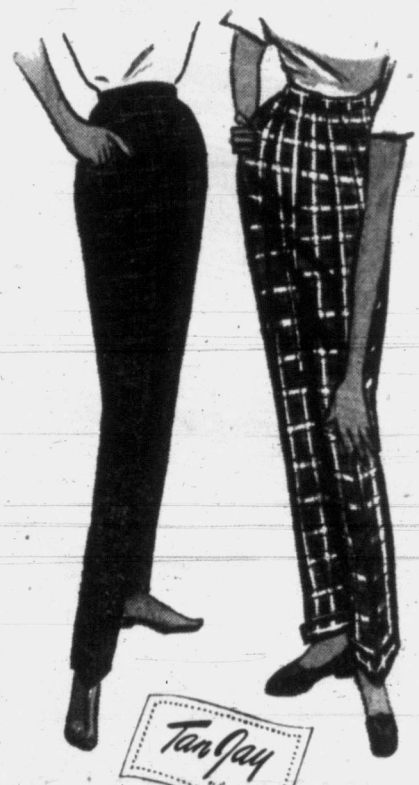

Mr. Grieve said the odor was not toxic and had no ill effect on people who lived with it. The smell is caused by the generation during the cooking of wood chips of minute quantities of organic sulphur compounds. These chemicals are inseparable from the kraft process.

"In other words, as long as you make kraft pulp, you will have the kraft smell," he said.

Cumberland Facing Same Fate as Fernie?

A provincial government policy aimed at maintaining a basic coal mining industry in British Columbia was called for in the Legislature Wednesday by Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell.

The government should take action to see that markets for coal are maintained, Mr. Campbell said.

The Vancouver General Hospital is one of a number of large institutions in British Columbia that has been buying coal from the Canadian Collieries mine at Cumberland, he said, and now is considering switching to natural gas.

If necessary, the government should step in to delay the conversion in order to help keep the mine operating.

Experienced miners will be needed if the coal mining industry should flourish again in the future, he said.

Mr. Campbell also urged the government to consider implementing a rehabilitation program to re-locate miners who do lose their jobs. Such a program was established in Alberta, he said.

LABORITES CHANGE MIND ON BONNER RESIGNATION

Victoria Labor Council executive took a second look today at a resolution passed unanimously by the membership calling for resignation of Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Letters prepared for mailing to Premier Bennett, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan and B.C. Federation of Labor will not now go forward, it was announced today. The resolution was introduced Wednesday by Local 1-118 International Woodworkers of America. It was based on the handling of the case of Robert Sommers, MLA, currently charged with conspiracy and bribery.

MONTÉ ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife says I can't do the simplest thing without making an issue of it. "All I asked you to do was stop by the store," My Favorite Wife says, "and get a small package of Dissolve. And what happens?" "THIS is what happens."

I walk into the store, and I look around the shelves, seeking a small package of Dissolve. But I do not see a small package of Dissolve. But I do see a store manager. So I ups to the store manager, and I says to him, where do you keep the small packages of Dissolve? But the store manager does not up to me and tell me where he keeps the small packages of Dissolve. The store manager does not up to me at all. The store manager attempts to disappear behind a life-size cut-out of the Lone Ranger.

But I am not intimidated by the Lone Ranger's guns, and I haul the store manager out, and I DEMAND to see where he keeps the small packages of Dissolve.

A strange, furtive look crosses the face of the store manager. His eyes narrow, his lips tighten, his neck reddens, his breath comes in short pants.

"A SMALL package of Dissolve?" he gasps in a distorted voice.

"Yes," I say, firmly. "A small package of Dissolve."

"Do you wish to BUY a small package of Dissolve?" he croaks.

"I do, indeed," I say.

"But-but-but-but," butts the store manager.

"Do not but me," I say. "I am a citizen duly enfranchised, and I wish to buy a small package of Dissolve."

"But," the store manager butts again, "there is no such thing as a small package of Dissolve."

Just then a package of Dissolve, partially hidden by a couple of larger packages of Dissolve, catches my eye. I recognize it instantly as a twin to the small package of Dissolve which had been under the kitchen sink until it became empty.

"Oho," I shout. "Also a-hah. What are you trying to conceal from me? THERE is a small package of Dissolve. I wish to buy it."

"You may buy it," agrees the store manager, "but it is NOT a small package of Dissolve."

"Then what is it?" I ask.

"That," says the store manager, "is a LARGE package of Dissolve. Next to it," says the store manager, "is a GIANT size, and next to that, a JUMBO size."

"Whatever became of small, medium, and large?" I plead.

"My poor boy," says the store manager, "have you never heard of progress?"

And My Favorite Wife says I can't do the simplest thing without making an issue of it.

The other two ships in the squadron, HMC Ships Stettler and Antigonish, returned Wednesday from exercises with U.S. units in Alaskan waters.

New Belgian Rifle Tried Out by Pats

By PETE LOUDON

Elements of Support Company, First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry "zeroed in" their new FN rifles at Healy's Range Wednesday.

The new FN, named after the Belgian Fabrique Nationale which developed the weapon, has been adopted as standard by most NATO forces.

With the new rifle a soldier can squeeze off one round, or squirt off 20 in a deadly continuous stream of lead. To do so he need not move his eye from his sights, work a bolt or ride with an aim-destroying recoil.

The semi-automatic provides a higher rate of fire than the Lee-Enfield rifle it replaces, so much so that a pair of men with FN's can throw as much fire as used to be possible with a light machine gun.

Industry Urged Into Diplomacy

CITY DOCTOR SEEKS ELECTION AS CANDIDATE

A medical practitioner here for the last 30 years, Dr. E. L. McNiven, will be a candidate for the Liberal nomination in the federal election when the party meets here Friday.

Born in James Bay 60 years ago, Dr. McNiven was educated at the old Boys' Central School, Kingston Street, and graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto.

His father was a prominent Liberal MLA for Victoria from 1903 to 1907.

Pipeliners Told Of Responsibilities

Industry should show less concern about economic ups and downs and more about its responsibilities in the diplomatic field, Trade and Industrial Development Minister R. W. Bonner said today.

Chief speaker at the opening session of the fourth annual Pipe Line Contractors' Association of Canada convention in the Empress Hotel, he said people of foreign lands are anxious to achieve the living standards of modern nations.

"They can be assisted by the credit and technology of either the West or East," he said. "It is important that it be us. That is a problem we either face successfully or ignore at our peril."

RUSSIA PROLIFIC

Mr. Bonner said Russia, on the basis of population size alone, can turn out "10 times" the number of professional men, technicians and tradesmen as the West.

"Meeting this situation is not the private problem of politicians in Ottawa and Washington," he said.

"It strikes me that an industry so successful in solving problems of technology and industrial development should have the same talent available for other problems pressing upon us."

"We are going to be called upon as industrial experts to gear some of our talent to diplomatic ends."

Decrying exaggeration of the "short-term" economic view, he spoke of growth in both the pipeline and pulp and paper industries as examples of vigor. "Paper manufacturers looked at the graphs of population increase in B.C. and built accordingly," he said. "Right now supply has outrun demand a little, but it has always caught up in the past, and will again." R. K. Banister, association president, said he could foresee no great pipeline project in the near future, and that a line from the western fields to Montreal would serve to assist producers, pipeline builders and Montreal refiners.

Such a project would require close to 900,000 tons of steel, and if it were to be undertaken, then steel would have to be ordered "almost immediately."

Indicating the ability of Canadian contractors to do the job, he said that in 1950 Canadian welders, operators and foremen were practically non-existent. "It was necessary to hire experienced personnel from the United States in order to get the first job done," he said. "Before the end of the year some relatively untrained Canadian workers had mastered skilled techniques and were working side by side with experienced pipeliners."

MOSTLY CANADIANS

At present 70 per cent of welders, 90 per cent of operators and all unskilled and semi-skilled workers are Canadians, he said.

Because of the acute shortage of skilled Canadians that still exists, the association is assisting in a training program devoted to attracting and developing a new corps of pipeline workers. It will furnish equipment without cost, and a qualified advisory committee, to provincial government departments that will co-operate in the Canada-wide endeavor.

Woodland School To Get 77 Nurses

Recruitment of 77 more psychiatric nurses and aides at Woodlands School for mentally defective children has been authorized by the provincial cabinet.

Government officials said, however, it will take some time to hire the new workers because of the shortage of trained help.

It is hoped that eventually when the 77 positions are filled Woodlands will operate at full capacity. At present there are 245 empty beds and cribs and a waiting list of 450.

Empty beds at Woodlands School for defective children are a "black blot on B.C.'s name," the legislature was told Wednesday.

Rae Eddie, CCF member for New Westminster, referred to the fact there are 245 unused beds at the school, while there is a waiting list of 450 children.

DEBT CUT HIT

Mr. Eddie criticized the government's "obsession for debt reduction" at the expense of welfare services, and hit out at staff cuts in provincial mental institutions.

A directive sent out last week to mental hospital heads restoring their authority to hire staff represented a "sudden reversal" by the government brought about by opposition and public criticism, Mr. Eddie said.

New hirings were "patched up, political expediency," he said.

"The people will be grateful to us for forcing the government to drop its dismal policy."

Mr. Eddie made his remarks after Opposition Leader Robert Strachan had made an unsuccessful attempt at the start of the afternoon sitting to introduce a resolution calling for an official inquiry into conditions in provincial mental health institutions.

RESOLUTION BARRED

The government majority refused in a voice vote to allow him to introduce the resolution.

The motion referred to "serious allegations" made against B.C. mental health services by Dr. G. G. Ferguson, executive secretary of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Medical Association in a published letter to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

The proposal of an inquiry by a recognized medical body was made in the letter, and Mr. Strachan urged the legislature to approve it.

The legislature should be advised of the requirements necessary "to ensure the best possible mental health services for our people," the resolution said.

The medical association letter said the staff situation in mental institutions has deteriorated since the association first warned the minister last June of an impending crisis.

"The medical staff (of the institutions) cannot agree with the minister's report of no reduction of services and would welcome an official inquiry by a recognized medical body."

"At the present time there are many vacancies in trained staff, although the number of aides and others untrained has increased."

"Even so the total staff has not kept pace with increasing load of admissions. Trained nurses on an Essondale ward have been unable to leave for meal hours due to scarcity of staff. Recreational therapy is curtailed and adolescent treatment project stopped due to loss of staff. Layoffs in maintenance department additionally affect treatment services."

The letter said that up to three days prior to Mr. Black's speech last Tuesday there was no hiring "even to replace essential personnel."

"Several specialized personnel applied and were told there were no vacancies."

The letter said the minister had likened the hiring of psychiatric specialists to an auction.

"Please note the B.C. government pays the lowest salaries in Canada for psychiatric specialists."

Q. I would like to know where I may procure a pair of flesh gloves such as are used by athletes to stimulate circulation R.S.

A. Neither sportsmen here nor sporting goods stores know of such an innovation. However, if you mean a brush-like rubber arrangement, which can be slipped over the hand and used to rub the body, they should be obtainable from any drug store or medical supply house.

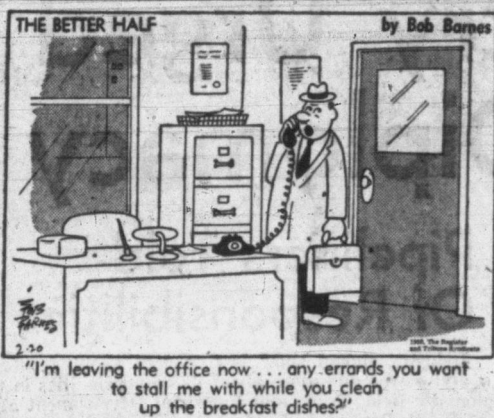

Q. Kindly inform me who was the prime minister of Canada in 1907 and who succeeded him? A.S.I.

A. Sir Wilfrid Laurier. His successor was Robert Borden, sworn in Oct. 10, 1911.

On Etiquette

Where to send wedding gift: I have just received the announcement of the marriage of an out-of-town girl and want to send a gift. No "At Home" card was enclosed, so I have no idea where the newly-married couple will live. Would it be all right to send the package to the bride's mother who lives in the same town where the wedding took place? Or should I write the mother and get the couple's address?

Louise Davis answers: Send your gift to the bride and address it to her mother's home. That would be the logical conclusion and others wanting to send gifts would probably be doing the same thing. It is possible and probable that the bride and groom haven't yet found a place to live. If they had, an "At Home" address would have been included with the announcement. It is also possible that the young man is in the service and doesn't know where his next post will be, and even if he should, chances might be that they haven't found living quarters. Oftentimes a serviceman and his bride must necessarily be separated for a while, in which case the bride may remain at her parents' home, and, therefore, the obvious headquarters would be there. For months to come, wedding gifts may be sent and unless a more definite address is given in the future, they go to the parents' address. Writing to the mother would necessitate an answer and it would be inadvisable to put her to that inconvenience.

"WIDOWHOOD"

The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the eighth of a series of articles written in order to be of service to the four out of five widows who one day will face widowhood.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

The most pathetically lost women I have ever seen are the widows brought in here for the first time after their husband's death who don't even know how to write a cheque, a banker commented to me one day.

Fortunately these women are a rarity. Today's wives kept in Wilson's sheltered ignorance of their husband's business or the family finances are few and far between.

During the war years women who never before handled the purse strings learned well and in a hurry the lessons of personal economics when their husbands went into service.

RESPECT FOR THE DOLLAR

At this time an army of females also entered the business world and returned to their homes (or continued to maintain homes and jobs) having developed a healthy respect for the worth of a dollar.

Never before has there been more written in magazines and newspapers on the subject of family money management. In all ways women have never been better trained to handle financial matters in the event of the death of their husbands. The endless list of widows who are stepping into their husbands' jobs and making successes of them is proof of that.

Yes, there are still foolish women who from their ignorance or their husband's fortunes are soon parted.

There are some who in their desperate attempt to fight loneliness, buy a gay time and shallow friendships hoping they will marry a well-to-do man before their own money gives out.

A few marry unscrupulous fortune-seekers hastily and unwittingly, or make unsound investments in the typical melodramatic manner. But only a few.

Most comfortably fixed widows are intelligent enough today to surround themselves with competent attorneys, financial advisors and to keep abreast of the goings-on themselves.

MUST FEEL NEEDED

The wealthy widow's main problem is to combat loneliness and to feel needed, which she can do by contributing at least her time to the betterment of her community.

But for every rich widow there are a dozen whose incomes are drastically reduced by the death of the breadwinner. And at no age, neither as a young widow with children to rear, nor as an older woman with a job to find, is it easy to adjust to this.

Take first the problems of the widow past 40 with possibly a home paid for, a rainy day lump sum from her husband's insurance, and no pension payments until she is 65.

If she does not want to use up her reserve, and she shouldn't, she must provide her own income. Lacking training and experience, what sort of work can she do?

BUSINESS TRAINING

She could take a business training course and then look for office employment. However, too many employers are prejudiced against women in middle age. And fruitless job hunting leaves a widow feeling all the more inferior and insecure at the very time in her life when she must find confidence in herself.

Some women in this age group seek domestic work, especially live-in housekeeping jobs which leave their salaries almost clear of expenses.

However, to manage this kind of an existence successfully the widow must not have so much false pride that she cannot be treated as an employee in another's home without being hurt by her prestige-less position.

The middle aged widow may be able to put a hobby, such as hat making, to work for her in her own home. Or perhaps she can bake cakes or pies for the neighbors.

SOME ARE BABY SITTERS

If children do not make her nervous (and she must be honest about this) she may find financial salvation in baby sitting in her own home or in friends' homes.

One elderly responsible widow I know is booked up for months in advance staying for weeks at a time with the children in various local families so that their parents may take second honeymoons.

Instead of selling the cherished family homestead, the widow may be better off to hang onto it as money in the bank and to make it earn its keep.

Widows have gone from one extreme of renting a room to a stranger to the other of reserving one room and bath for herself and renting the house with built-in baby-sitting to a family. She can take in another widowed or divorced mother with a child, caring for the child while the mother works.

GUARD PRIVACY

In the event that the widow does bring someone else into her house to help meet expenses, she should take some precautionary measures to guard her privacy.

Having moved about her freedom with the usual freedom of ownership, she will experience a great deal of frustration at not being able to do so with strangers in the house.

Having been able to let her hair down in the months past, she will feel the strain of needing to be tactful and pleasant to those sharing the overhead, always. She will despise talking when she wants to sit silently, and she will begrudge even listening to a companion when her thoughts are elsewhere.

Widowhood is a strange conflict of fighting loneliness and seeking to be alone, away from the pressures of the world for a while.

NOT EASILY SOLVED

With making clearly understood arrangements regarding privacy before sharing the household, the chances are greater that tensions can be avoided.

However the money problem is solved, it is not easy. There are great personal sacrifices which must be made for the sake of solvency, and even survival.

But the world is full of resourceful women in the middle years who accepted the challenge of widowhood, hurdled the obstacles of age and inexperience to shape a profitable business career. It's not luck. It's pluck!

Give your Lenten meals a "lift"!

Look at the Lenten dishes you can make with Lipton Tomato Vegetable and Green Pea Soups

Lipton Fish Creole. Add 1 package Lipton Tomato Vegetable Soup to 3 cups briskly-boiling water. Drop in a bay leaf, boil rapidly 5 minutes. Thicken slightly with flour, simmer 5 minutes more. While this is cooking, arrange 1 large package frozen fish-sticks in the bottom of a casserole. Remove bay leaf from sauce, add sliced onion-rings, season, and pour over fish-sticks. Top casserole with tomato slices and buttered crumbs and bake 20-25 minutes in moderate oven. Serves 6.

Lipton Tomato Vegetable Salad Ring. Make up 1 package Lipton Tomato Vegetable Soup, according to directions. Stir in 2 packages lemon jelly powder until dissolved. Add ¼ cup lemon juice and ¼ cup orange juice, and refrigerate until slightly thickened. Then fold in 1 cup finely-shredded cabbage and ¼ cup either chopped raw celery or green pepper. Spoon into ring-mould and chill until firm. Unmould on bed of greens, and fill centre with mayonnaise. Garnish. Serves 6-8—tastes and looks wonderful!

Lipton Green Pea Soup... the traditional Canadian soup, thick, nourishing, fragrant... and entirely meatless. Your grandmother took hours to make this fine, rib-sticking soup... but it's all yours in one tidy little Lipton package, and ready in just ten minutes. Try it soon!

Lipton Lenten Onion-Scallop. Peel and parboil 4-6 medium-sized onions. Make up 1 package Lipton Green Pea Soup, using 2½ cups cold water. Season as desired. Arrange onions in baking dish, pour hot soup over them, dust with paprika and top with grated sharp cheese. Bake in moderate oven until onions are tender and cheese bubbly. Serves 4-6.

Lipton Tomato Vegetable Soup... is a rich tomato broth, twinkling with vegetables and golden egg-noodles. And like all Lipton Soups, it's really fresh and nourishing because it's cooked for the first time in your own kitchen. Ever heard of an easier way to serve delicious 'home-made' soup? (And it's absolutely meatless, too!)

The President's Wife Busy Here and at Home

She says she came along to look after her husband's cuff links. But first lady of the Pipe Line Contractors' Association convention, Mrs. R. K. Banister, is much busier than she would let you know.

As wife of the president, Mrs. Banister will be acting as hostess at convention social events, which number three and four each day, beginning this morning, concluding Saturday.

She will be helping visiting delegates' wives feel at home in Victoria, even though she herself, is a stranger.

"We left knee-deep snow in Edmonton," said Mrs. Banister, marvelling at the sunshine which welcomed arriving delegates, Wednesday.

She also left at home her four children, Lauren, Rodger, Harold and Mary.

Vows Spoken In Vancouver

Of interest in Victoria is the wedding in St. Anthony's Church, Vancouver, that united Patricia Kathleen Lovick, Vancouver, and John Louis Charles Cox, Montreal, Rev. D. M. Inern officiated.

A classic gown of silk mist taffeta with sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves was worn by the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. H. Lovick.

Motifs of Alencon lace applied the slim bodice and the bouffant skirt swept into a chapel train. A coronet of matching lace held the bride's chapel veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and hyacinths.

Mrs. Barry Roome, matron of honor, and Miss Wendy-Ray bridesmaid, were gownned alike in shimmering taffeta of Capri blue with ballerina-length skirts. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

F. J. Barry Roome was best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Cox, who came from their home at Dorval, Que. for the wedding. Ushers were Larry Burr, Al Simon, Michael Herb and David Miller.

Reception was held at Caplano Golf and Country Club, where Rev. J. A. G. Wilson proposed the bridal toast.

Guests from Victoria at the wedding were Mrs. H. Catterall and Mrs. Robert Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox are motoring through the southern United States to Montreal, where they will make their home.

The taste of a Spring Morning

Only Cottons Used in Stunning Costumes Shown at CAC Spring, Summer Fashion Show

An unlimited spring and summer wardrobe is yours at little cost... if you can sew.

Cotton is the answer. It was the only fabric used in outfits modelled at a fashion show today which included everything from delicate pignors through sportswear, high fashion suits to evening dresses. Canadian Association of Consumers sponsored the show at the Hudson's Bay Company.

Bringing the wardrobe of cottons with her from Montreal, personable Joan Blanchard commented the show, telling how inexpensively the stylish costumes were made.

"In fact," she said, "average price of the cottons used was $1.00 per yard. At about four yards per dress, you can put unbelievably low price tags on your clothes."

Most striking dress shown was a "lampshade" cocktail gown. The bouffant skirt belled in at the hemline and was caught up with neat bows of self fabric—a silky splash print of muted grey roses with moss green leaves.

Polka dots the size of Centennial silver dollars patterned a crisp white pique dress and duster ensemble. In combination of white and bright Wellington blue (dress is white with blue dots, duster blue with white) the costume is fresh and summery.

"Sun-drenched colors like gold, apricot and bronze are definitely news this year," said Joan, and she showed a pair of Jamaica shorts combining all three.

A pocket of each color appears on the natty golden brown Jamaica shorts, which are shorter than Bermudas, longer than standard shorts.

A full-length, pignoir and gown fit for a royal bride was made of palest yellow cotton sheer. Full, gathered-to-the-yoke pignoir had three-quarter puffy sleeves and the gown showed the high, Empire styling.

Italian-style sports outfit in stark black and white was made of two cotton types; slim slim pants were of white cotton drill and the black skirt, which hung loose at back and tucked into the high-riding pants at front, was of fine cotton broadcloth.

Massed flowers seem to be "in" this season, so a cocktail dress patterned with roses in shades of pink from the most delicate rose to a deep American Beauty was a favorite.

What do you know... culottes are back! For you who may not remember, they look like a skirt, but are really full pants. Culottes shown in cotton today made a delightful lounging ensemble when combined with a smart black skirt. An avocado cummerbund topped the modern print pants.

New "barrel silhouette" was shown in a suit made of cotton that looked for all the world like a wool gabardine. It showed a semi-belted skirt and semi-fitted jacket, the latter being lined with a cotton jungle print which matched a neat little blouse.

Joan Blanchard showed how cotton is versatile in home furnishings, using an easel to show sketches of latest trends in living.

The show will be repeated Friday at 2:30 p.m. and at 7 p.m. in the Douglas Room.

Production of Children's Books Goes Back Many Years

"Children's Books of Yesterday" was the subject of a talk given by R. D. Hilton Smith to the University Women's Club of Victoria, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Smith took his first examples from the beginning of recreational literature, which combined amusement with instruction, about 200 years ago. The books written for children before this time would "cause modern psychiatrists to shudder," the speaker said. He cited a book written in 1671 by a Puritan, James Janeway, called "A Token for Children Being an Exact Account of the Conversion, Holy and Exemplary Lives and Joyful Deaths of Several Young Children."

FOR ALL AGES

Among books of the 18th century which were not written for children but which children took to themselves, were "Pilgrim's Progress," "Gulliver's Travels" and "Robinson Crusoe."

In the early 18th century publisher John Newbury saw a market for entertaining as well as instructive books for children and printed a series of 12 small books called "The Circle of the Sciences." The title page from one of these reads "Logic made familiar and easy to young gentlemen and ladies with a compendium of metaphysics and ontology."

Towards the end of the 18th century Rousseau's philosophy of rational education in which reason was all-important, had a marked effect on stories for children, and they became highly moral but not much fun.

The spirit of fancy, fun and nonsense was kept alive by the small "chap" (cheap books sold by peddlers and at country fairs for very little, "penny plain and twopenny colored." Later, "Alice in Wonderland" and Edward Lear and the Kate Greenaway

WHAT PART OF YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS FOR LIGHT?

A very small part. It used to be that a B.C. Electric bill was a "light bill." Today, in the average customer's home, electricity does many, many jobs besides supplying light. It's true your electric bill is higher than it used to be. However, as you use the modern appliances you have added to your home in recent years, you realize that, among all the commodities you have to buy, electricity is today's best value.

The average B.C. Electric residential customer now uses nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but is paying less per kilowatt hour. The average price per kilowatt hour for residential service in 1946 was 2.4 cents. In 1956 it was 2.1 cents.

Average Canadian Ignored In Pipeline Shares Sale

CALGARY (CP)—The average Canadian had little chance to buy shares in Canada's first major natural gas pipeline, Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., the Borden energy commission was advised Wednesday.

Completing examination of the company's financing, the commission was told by Westcoast Managing Director D. P. McDonald that 3,886,000 shares offered to the public at $5 each in May, 1956, were sold at a private placing in New York.

Of that amount, he added, about 55 per cent was purchased by Canadians who were promoters of the pipeline project, running from northern British Columbia and Alberta and exporting gas to the U.S. The sale was not a formal public offering.

NO DIRECT OFFER
Mr. McDonald agreed with commission chairman Henry Borden that no direct offerings were made by Westcoast to man-in-the-street Canadians other than subordinate debentures at 5½ per cent interest which could be converted to shares if held long enough.

Referring to the private placing in New York, Mr. Borden observed that while they theoretically were available for public buying only the Canadians "who knew what was going on" invested.

"Rightly or wrongly," he said, "very little opportunity has been given to the Canadian public to invest in this vast pipeline project."

"That is true," Mr. McDonald replied.
The managing director added that through various financial transactions Canadians have retained voting control and actual management of Westcoast since 1948. Promoters of the pipeline, who assumed all the risk connected with investment, naturally had first chance at share sales.

PUBLIC LACKED FAITH
Asked why money from the general Canadian public did not come forward in 1955 to buy Westcoast shares, he said "I don't think there was anyone in Canada who believed this project would succeed except us... and the Americans."

At any rate, there was sufficient demand for the stock that no public offerings were required to raise funds.

Mr. McDonald reminded the commission that of 4615,000 shares offered to the U.S. public in the form of a unit purchase linked with debentures, about 20 per cent or 125,000 shares were bought up by Canadian underwriting houses and offered to investors in British Columbia and Alberta.

Earlier, commission counsel Arthur Pattillo questioned Mr. McDonald concerning the sale of 625,000 original shares of Westcoast to promoters at five cents each before mid-1955. During the first month company shares were offered to public buyers their value rose to about

Mr. McDonald said the issue of the 625,000 five-cent shares in initial financing did not add to the cost of service rendered by Westcoast to its customers in Canada and the United States or lower the ability of the company to pay maximum prices to producers.

Canadians own slightly less than 50 per cent of those first shares, he told Mr. Borden.

SAYS METHOD SOUND

Mr. McDonald said the issue of the 625,000 five-cent shares in initial financing did not add to the cost of service rendered by Westcoast to its customers

25 Aboard Missing Plane

Over Atlantic for U.S. Navy Craft

LONDON (UP)—A U.S. Navy Constellation patrol plane carrying up to 25 men vanished on a mid-Atlantic flight today and air rescue units launched an immediate umbrella search over storm-whipped seas between Newfoundland and the Azores.

The big four-engine aircraft, military version of the Constellation airliner, took off from the Azores, Newfoundland, air station at midnight.

It failed to return tonight from a round-trip patrol mission.

U.S. air force search planes took off at dusk from Prestwick, Scotland, and Lajes air force base in the Azores. Other search craft were reported alerted as far away as Tripoli, Libya.

The British Air Ministry reported survival conditions "difficult" over most of the 1,200-mile flight route from Newfoundland to the Azores—stormy with high winds, rough seas and temperatures down to freezing.

Only within 300 miles of the Azores were conditions hopeful for ditching at sea, the air ministry said.

The U.S. navy uses Constellations as flying radar stations to guard the Atlantic coast from surprise attack. They are the frontline of offshore defence. They are reported to carry a crew of 25 fliers, radar operators and technicians on their long patrols.

Atlas Fired, Blows Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental missile blasted off today but apparently blew up about two minutes after leaving its firing pad.

The Atlas roared straight up for about 30 seconds, then arched slowly toward the east, leaving a vapor trail in the sky. Two minutes after the start of the flight, observers saw a huge ball of fire and the Atlas could no longer be seen.

GREEN WARNS:

'Decade of Decay' Or 2-Party System

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP)—Works Minister Howard Green said Wednesday night a "decade of decay" faces Canada if it fails to return to an efficient two-party governing system.

Mr. Green, speaking at the Burnaby Richmond Conservative nomination convention which selected John Drysdale as federal election candidate for the riding, criticized the CCF and Social Credit parties as "niggly" minorities. "There is no room for them under the British system of government."

On U.S. relations he said: "We are not afraid to look the Yanks in the eye. Our economic policies under the Liberals were too often decided in New York and Washington."

On Liberal Leader Pearson: "It's time someone pointed out that the peace of the world doesn't depend on him."

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—Lester B. Pearson got his hair cut today by a barber who was on his way to get his teeth out.

"I'll be late for my dental appointment," said 50-year-old Jack Mountain, "but I'd even be late for my wedding to have the chance to cut Mr. Pearson's hair."

As Mr. Pearson climbed into the barber chair he stared at a familiar face—a colored photograph of Prime Minister Diefenbaker pinned to a wall.

"Oh, oh, the wrong face," he said. Then, as he saw his own photograph below, he added: "Oh that's all right."

U.S. MEDIATOR FOR TUNISIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran trouble-shooter Robert Murphy was named Wednesday night to represent the U.S. in attempts to settle the dispute between France and Tunisia.

A state department spokesman said Murphy, a deputy undersecretary of state, will leave soon for talks in London, Paris and Tunis.

French Charged With Kidnap Raid By Tunisia

TUNIS (AP)—The Tunisian government charged today that French troops who had been restricted to their post in the south part of the country, broke out Wednesday, invaded a nearby village and kidnapped the local governor.

The incident erupted just as the Tunisians and French appeared to be backing away from their present crisis in an effort to allow British and American good offices to take effect.

Authorized Tunisian sources said they viewed the latest incidents as "extremely serious."

Two members of the Tunisian national guard also were reported seized by the French.

The incident took place in the town of Remada in southern Tunisia.

French sources said Gen. Fernand Gambiez, French troop commander in Tunisia, has ordered the release of the Tunisians taken by the French troops.

Russia Appeals For Conference On Korea Problem

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia called today for a conference of all interested states to discuss measures to bring about a Korean "rapprochement" to ensure peace in the Far East.

Today's statement backed up a Chinese Communist North Korean declaration Wednesday announcing the withdrawal of all Chinese troops from North Korea by the end of the year and challenged the United States to follow suit in South Korea.

Ex-Elections Chief Dies in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Jules Castonguay, who for 20 years was responsible for the detailed mechanics involved in Canada's federal elections, died in hospital Wednesday night.

The former chief electoral officer had been in a coma since suffering a heart attack Jan. 21. Last Saturday was his 76th birthday.

Mr. Castonguay retired 10 years ago. His son, Nelson, succeeded him.

SIR WINSTON COMFORTABLE, FEVER LOWER

FRANCE (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill is comfortable and his fever is a little lower today, a medical bulletin said this afternoon.

The bulletin said the condition of the 83-year-old statesman, battling pneumonia and pleurisy, "is not greatly changed since yesterday."

But, it added, "he is comfortable, his strength is maintained and his fever is a little lower."

Earlier today, a member of Churchill's household said Churchill had a "fairly restful night."

SUMMIT TALK SEEN CERTAIN

MOSCOW (AP)—A government spokesman today quoted Nikita Khrushchev as saying a summit conference definitely will be held.

Replying to questions at a foreign office press conference, press chief Leonid Ilyichev said Khrushchev had declared "there is no doubt a summit meeting will be held."

He added: "Since the Sudan is determined to defend its territory, the situation would result in a breach of the peace and, if uncontrolled, may develop into armed conflict."

Meeting in an urgent session after midnight, the Sudanese cabinet decided to appeal to the UN after Foreign Minister Mohamed Mahgoub reported from Cairo that negotiations with President Nasser had been fruitless. Wednesday it had announced that agreement had been reached.

Sudan Seeks UN Move To Thwart Conflict

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters)—The Sudanese government today appealed for immediate United Nations Security Council action to head off an "armed conflict" with Egypt.

An urgent note forwarded to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld accused Egyptian troops of "huge infiltration" across the Sudanese frontier in anticipation of an Egyptian plebiscite scheduled in the disputed frontier area Friday.

The note declared this constituted "a breach of Sudanese sovereignty."

Three-Way Split Told At Hearing

Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — Charles Eversfield today testified that a three-way split of money received in connection with forest management licences was arranged in 1954 between Robert Sommers and two companies.

Taking the stand for the third day, the former Pacific Coast Services Ltd. bookkeeper said six $500 bonds were given Sommers while he was lands and forests minister.

He also said that Sommers shared in two payments made to PCS by C. D. Schultz Ltd. and B.C. Forest Products.

Referring to a $15,000 payment by BCFP to PCS, he said:

H. Wilson Gray of PCS "told me one third was to go to Schultz Ltd., one-third was to go to PCS and one-third was to go to Sommers."

"Whenever he talked about these transactions he referred to them as the PCS-RES-CDS funds."

25-PERCENT CUT

In August of 1954, Eversfield said H. W. Gray informed him how Sommers' share of the BCFP cheque was to be passed to the minister.

The share totalled $2,750 after a 25-per-cent deduction was made to cover income tax that would have to be paid on the transactions going through the PCS books.

"One cheque for $1,375 was issued to J. M. Gray and one cheque for $1,375 was issued to S. W. Armitage (an officer of PCS). They would give the proceeds to him (H. W. Gray) and he would pass the money on to Sommers."

Aug. 31, 1954, the two cheques were issued as bonus payments on the salary accounts.

"Later that day I walked into H. W. Gray's office . . . S. W. Armitage was there."

"As I entered, H. W. Gray was putting a large bundle of bills into his wallet and said, as I recall, 'That should keep Bob happy for awhile.'"

Earlier Eversfield said that six $500 bonds, paid for with funds issued through PCS, J. M. Gray and Evergreen Lumber, had gone to Sommers.

SENT BY MAIL

"H. W. Gray told me he gave Sommers, $50, $250 and the bonds but Sommers didn't want to take two of the bonds at the time and he (Gray) gave them back to me. Later they were sent by registered mail to Sommers," said Eversfield.

"A year later, at about the time the Lord Commission was appointed, Gray told me that of the six bonds Sommers received he had cashed two in Victoria and another two were lodged in a Victoria bank in connection with a loan."

"He explained if there was an investigation of the bonds, Sommers would declare only these bonds (in the bank)."

"If he (Sommers) did not know the numbers of the bonds, then all would have to be declared to be on the safe side in case of an investigation."

Ringling praise of Attorney General Robert Bonner and his actions in the Sommers affair was heard in the Legislature Wednesday from a new government back-bencher.

William Speare, elected in the Cariboo riding by-election last September, said he was thankful for the attorney-general's refusal "to release the Butler RCMP report."

"He said he resented the 'sordid appeal' made to other Social Credit back-benchers to stand up and be counted following the action taken by J. Melvin Bryan in crossing the floor of the House."

Mr. Speare is one of the few government members to come to Mr. Bonner's defence in the Legislature.

"I am urged to say this because I believe to stay quiet might indicate a reserve of decision which I do not hold," he said.

"There has been an alarming lack of appreciation by this legislature for the structure of the parliamentary system."

Ex-Teamster Boss Faces Long Term

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck, Sr., retired and wealthy president of the Teamsters' Union, was sentenced today to up to 15 years in prison for stealing $1,900 from his union.

His son, Dave Beck, Jr., a short while earlier had been fined $2,000 and his sentencing deferred three years for taking $4,650 from the teamsters.

The sentence of up to 15 years is mandatory under Washington law. The minimum term will be set by the state board of prison terms and paroles.

Judge George H. Revelle and Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll both said they will recommend that Beck Sr. serve three years.

Beck received the sentence without any show of emotion.

SEVER CONNECTIONS

In sentencing the son an hour before, Revelle had ordered Beck Jr. to pay court costs and to sever all connections with labor organizations, either as an employee of an officer.

He said the restitution of the $4,650 should come from the 37-year-old Beck's own funds.

The younger Beck had testified during his trial that he had turned the $4,650 derived from the sale of two union-owned Cadillacs over to his father in the belief the money would be turned to the union.

Beck Sr. was convicted Dec. 14 of keeping $1,900 received from the sale of a union-owned automobile. His son was convicted Nov. 23 of pocketing the $4,650 received for the sale of two other union-owned cars.

Heroic B.C. Girl Guide Wins Award

TORONTO (CP)—Joan Stewart, 15-year-old girl guide from Terrace, B.C., has been awarded the Girl Guides' Gilt Cross for "her bravery and quick action in preventing an accident" when a youngster wandered on to a race track at Kispiox, B.C., last summer.

In announcing the award today, the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides Association said:

"While Joan Stewart was participating in a horse race on the Rodeo Grounds at Kispiox, B.C., a small child wandered on to the race track into the path of a horse. When Joan realized the danger, she tried to stop the horse."

"In previous races of the day this particular horse had appeared to be very high spirited and had been very difficult to stop at the completion of each one. Consequently, when Joan stopped it so suddenly, she was thrown against the fence rail and received a bad blow on the head."

The Girl Guides said they did not know the name of the youngster.

'BELEAGUERED AMERICA'

Tough Battle Faces Ike on Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (CP)—Reaction by congressmen to President Eisenhower's request for nearly $4,000,000,000 in new foreign aid funds indicates the program faces a tough fight.

Eisenhower, presenting his request Wednesday, said a sharp reduction in his request would mean ultimately a "beleaguered America" all but alone in a Communist world.

Republican Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont supported the president today. Congress, he said, should be cautious about making any drastic cuts "lest it add to the recession."

"I believe our people can be eternally grateful that our forefathers saw fit to separate the judiciary from the legislative and the executive."

"I was never more thankful for this than when I saw in this House proposals to make political use of a police document."

That was the technique that made Hitler powerful, Mr. Speare said.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

A man who changes his political affiliations is always suspect. And Bill Asselstine, as a former minister of mines in the B.C. Liberal and Coalition governments, has been received with caution on all sides since he returned to the legislature as Social Credit member for far northern Atlin.

Whether he was right or wrong in changing his party, most of us agreed after hearing his speech Wednesday night that he is a 100 per cent mining man.

Speaking towards the close of a wearisome day, he talked of nothing but mines and miners and said: "I came back here to do something for the North and, before I leave, I'll do it."

Mr. Asselstine made no apology for changing his party but offered a kind of explanation.

"I am an old-time Liberal and the Liberal Party has a lot of fine people in it. People ask me why I didn't stay with the team. Well, I began to look around and wonder if there wasn't a party that could do more for the province."

"It was for no other reason that I joined the Social Credit ranks."

Mr. Asselstine added cautiously that no one ever tried anything without making mistakes and he confessed he had had doubts about the administration up north until he was reassured by Premier Bennett and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan that it would be improved.

"That means you are only with the team sometimes," interposed CCF leader Bob Strachan.

"When I was with the old team I played ball," answered Mr. Asselstine. "When I quit, I quit cold. Now I'm with the other team I'll play ball, too."

Two leading lights of the B.C. Humor Society—John Post and Harold McDonald from Vancouver—sat in the public galleries Wednesday afternoon and declared they had lots of fun.

Before taking the plane to Victoria they sent a wire to their newest recruit, 83-year-old Tom Uphill:

"Wouldn't you like to see the clambake. Will bring our own lunch. Would like to know, do visitors wear shoes in the legislature?"

Asked how people joined the B.C. Humor Society, John Post replied:

"They don't join us, we join them."

He explained that in order to be joined by the society you have to say or do something really funny.

So far the society has attached itself to only two members of the Legislature—Tom Uphill and Highways Minister Gagliardi.

But it is on the look-out for new recruits and Premier Bennett has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Dan Campbell, the school teacher member for Comox, managed to wrap up a little Canadian history with his contribution to the budget debate and in an effort to elevate the House said:

"I don't think the fathers of Confederation were too interested in politics."

"Ho, Ho!" responded CCF leader Strachan cynically.

Towards the end of his speech, Mr. Strachan remarked:

"Now I know why people complain about the calibre of our schoolteachers."

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Aid to Good Students Favored

By BEN CROW
Western Research Surveys

The great majority of people in Greater Victoria would like to see both financial assistance and moral encouragement given to bright university students.

More than nine citizens out of ten would approve of the federal government seeking out persons of scientific ability with a view to encouraging them to attend a university.

Eight out of ten would approve of the government paying the tuition and, if necessary, the board of students in engineering, mathematics, and the physical sciences.

But Russia's Sputniks are not the prime reason for this attitude. Almost as many persons would approve of the federal government paying the costs of all students with outstanding ability.

A poll of 100 representative homes also revealed a wide variety of opinion and unanimity of interest. (Every respondent had an opinion.)

Some of the ideas expressed, may be grouped as follows:

1. Assistance should be given in the form of scholarships.

2. Only students of ability requiring assistance should be helped; those with means don't need help.

3. Students receiving substantial assistance should agree to reside in Canada.

4. The government should supply free tuition, but not board.

5. Some sciences, like medicine, are of equal or greater importance than engineering or the physical sciences.

6. We need scientists, and other trained persons are necessary. Look at Russia!

7. We should not be stampeded into emphasizing science. Other studies are important too.

8. This program would make taxes too high. There would be too many free loaders.

9. Students should not be required to work for the government upon completion of studies as a condition of help.

10. The only qualifications should be ability and sincerity. Family influence should not be allowed to enter into decisions of acceptance.

11. All students should have assistance whether they have ability or not.

12. There are ways and means of going to university now if a person wants to badly enough.

13. Many persons have ability but are still not worthy of assistance.

14. Assistance should be given all students, but discontinued if they cannot prove their worth at university.

15. Partial aid should be given if needed, but this should be partially repaid.

Southam Profits Drop $541,000

TORONTO (CP)—Southam Company Ltd. had net profit in 1957 of $2,658,161, a decrease of $541,000 from 1956, says a preliminary earnings statement issued by the company.

The statement says a clear comparison between the two years is difficult because of the transfer in June of ownership of the Vancouver Province to Pacific Press Ltd.

Series C Debentures will be redeemable (otherwise than out of sinking fund moneys) prior to maturity at any time in whole or from time to time in part at the option of the Company on thirty days notice at the principal amount thereof plus a premium of 2 1/2% of such principal amount if redeemed on or before January 15, 1968, such premium being reduced by 1/2% of 1% of such principal amount for each year commencing or elapsed after January 15, 1968 to the date specified for redemption up to and including January 15, 1982 and thereafter prior to maturity at the principal amount thereof, together in all cases with accrued interest to the date specified for redemption; provided that the Company shall not call for redemption any Series C Debentures (otherwise than out of sinking fund moneys) on or before January 15, 1964 in connection with a refunding operation by the application, directly or indirectly, of borrowed funds. Series C Debentures will be redeemable out of sinking fund moneys on thirty days' notice at the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest to the date specified for redemption.

The Company will be required to pay to the Trustee as and by way of a sinking fund for the Series C Debentures within fifteen days before January 15 in each of the years 1959 to 1982, both inclusive, a sum sufficient to retire in each of such years $600,000 principal amount of Series C Debentures. We, as principals, offer these Series C Debentures, subject to prior sale and change in price, if, as and when issued by the Company and accepted by us and subject to the approval of all legal matters on behalf of the Company by Messrs. # Canada's Exports Set All-Time High in 1957

OTTAWA (CP)—Sparked by increased sales of uranium, 1957 rose to $12,935,000 from $12,777,000 the previous year, mainly to the United States. Canadian exports in 1957 rose to a record value of $4,840,700, the bureau of statistics has announced.

The 1957 figure represented a gain of $51,000,000 over shipments valued at $4,789,700,000 in 1956. Both volume and prices averaged a narrowly higher during the year.

Exports in December rose almost 10 per cent to $443,500,000 from $403,700,000 the previous year.

During the year record shipments of primary and semi-processed metals and minerals more than offset lower total values for farm and forestry products.

Gains also were recorded in sales of nickel, iron ore, asbestos, non-farm machinery, newsprint and seeds. Lower values were posted for wheat and other grains, wheat flour, planks and boards, wood pulp, aluminum, copper and zinc.

Lower Trend Noted At Toronto, N.Y.

In moderately active mid-afternoon trading the Toronto stock market was irregularly lower today.

Industrial gains outnumbered losses by a small majority and only liquors and steels had a wide margin of losses. Financial institutions and utilities were strong.

Prices slipped moderately after an early rally faded on the New York market. Turnover was fairly good. Key stocks declined fractions to around a point. There were some selected gains.

AT TORONTO Calgary Power, Ford A, Page-Hersey Tubes and Dominion Glass each gained at least a point. Losers in a similar range included Trans-Canada Pipe Line, Maple Leaf Milling, Imperial Life and Anglo American Explorations.

Senior base metals had an equal number of gains and losses. Uranium and junior base metals were mixed to lower and coppers and golds were down in narrow-ranged trading.

Western oils had three losses for each gain but none of the declines were big. Fargo lost 15 cents at $5.90 to lead the losers.

AT NEW YORK Walker Gooderham was the only Canadian issue in demand. It rose 3/4.

THREE-WAY SPLIT CHARGED AT SOMMERS HEARING

25 Aboard Missing Plane

'Umbrella' Search Launched
Over Atlantic for U.S. Navy Craft

LONDON (UP)—A U.S. Navy Constellation patrol plane carrying up to 25 men vanished on a mid-Atlantic flight today and air rescue units launched an immediate umbrella search over storm-whipped seas between Newfoundland and the Azores.

The big four-engine aircraft, military version of the Constellation, took off from the Azores, Newfoundland, air station at midnight.

It failed to return tonight from a round-trip patrol mission. U.S. air force search planes took off at dusk from Prestwick, Scotland, and Lajes air force base in the Azores. Other search craft were reported alerted as far away as Tripoli, Libya.

The British Air Ministry reported survival conditions "difficult" over most of the 1,200-mile flight route from Newfoundland to the Azores—stormy with high winds, rough seas and temperatures down to freezing.

Only within 300 miles of the Azores were conditions hopeful for ditching at sea, the air ministry said.

The U.S. navy uses Constellations as flying radar stations to guard the Atlantic coast from surprise attack. They are the frontline of offshore defence.

They are reported to carry a crew of 25 fliers, radar operators and technicians on their long patrols.

Douks Find Russ Areas 'Suitable'

MOSCOW (CP)—A delegation of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors said today they will suggest that the sect move from British Columbia to Siberia.

William Mooljelsky, spokesman for the group which seeks a new home in the Soviet Union, said in an interview here that his group found the general areas around Omsk and Altai "very suitable." They made a three-week tour of Russian areas.

Omsk is a town in western Siberia, about 1,400 miles southeast of Moscow. The Altai area of southern Siberia and northwest Mongolia is about another 1,000 miles southeast of Omsk.

REPORT TO B.C.
Mooljelsky said his team will leave for home this weekend to report on its findings to the Sons of Freedom in British Columbia.

The Soviet government, Mooljelsky said, has offered members of the extremist religious sect "sanctuary and freedom from all state interference" if they return to Russia. The Doukhobors left Russia late last century to escape Czarist persecution.

Mooljelsky declined to say what stage negotiations with the Russians had reached but expressed himself as hopeful.

Settlement in the Omsk and Altai regions will be recommended to the Freedomsites, who number about 2,000. Orthodox Doukhobors, who number about 20,000 in Canada, are not involved in the back-to-Russia move.

Mooljelsky said the rank-and-file Sons of Freedom will make the final choice.

U.S. MEDIATOR FOR TUNISIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran trouble-shooter Robert Murphy was named Wednesday night to represent the U.S. in attempts to settle the dispute between France and Tunisia.

A state department spokesman said Murphy, a deputy undersecretary of state, will leave soon for talks in London, Paris and Tunis.

U.S. Refuses To Lift Curbs On Canada Oil

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States government has declined to reconsider its oil import program and to remove limitations placed last December on Canadian oil moving into the Pacific northwest states of Washington, Oregon and California.

The American decision, contained in a note handed to Canada's Ambassador Norman Robertson in Washington Wednesday, brought an immediate expression of disappointment from Finance Minister Fleming.

The U.S. note contained a promise to review American petroleum import levels during the second quarter of this year and gave assurances that Canada's opposition to the voluntary oil import restrictions will be further considered at that time.

The communication reiterated the U.S. view that the voluntary import curbs will have relatively little effect on current purchases of Canadian oil by companies which have been buying in Canada.

French Charged With Kidnap Raid By Tunisia

TUNIS (AP)—The Tunisian government charged today that French troops who had been restricted to their post in the south part of the country, broke out Wednesday, invaded a nearby village and kidnapped the local governor.

The incident erupted just as the Tunisians and French appeared to be backing away from their present crisis in an effort to allow British and American good offices to take effect.

Authorized Tunisian sources said they viewed the latest incidents as "extremely serious." Two members of the Tunisian national guard also were reported seized by the French.

The incident took place in the town of Remada in southern Tunisia.

French sources said Gen. Fernand Gambiez, French troop commander in Tunisia, has ordered the release of the Tunisians taken by the French troops.

Los Angeles Flooded By Hit-and-Run Storm

Heroic B.C. Girl Guide Wins Award

TORONTO (CP)—Joan Stewart, 15-year-old girl guide from Terrace, B.C., has been awarded the Girl Guides' Gilt Cross for "her bravery and quick action in preventing an accident" when a youngster wandered on to a race track at Kispiox, B.C., last summer.

In announcing the award today, the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides Association said:

"While Joan Stewart was participating in a horse race on the Rodeo Grounds at Kispiox, B.C., a small child wandered on to the race track into the path of a horse. When Joan realized the danger, she tried to stop the horse.

"In previous races of the day this particular horse had appeared to be very high spirited and had been very difficult to stop at the completion of each one. Consequently, when Joan stopped it so suddenly, she was thrown against the fence rail and received a bad blow on the head."

The Girl Guides said they did not know the name of the youngster.

SIR WINSTON COMFORTABLE, FEVER LOWER

FRANCE (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill is comfortable and his fever is a little lower today, a medical bulletin said this afternoon.

The bulletin said the condition of the 83-year-old statesman, battling pneumonia and pleurisy, "is not greatly changed since yesterday."

But, it added, "he is comfortable, his strength is maintained and his fever is a little lower."

Earlier today, a member of Churchill's household said Churchill had a "fairly restful night."

Churchill worked in bed as usual today. His private secretary said: "Sir Winston and his family would like to express their warm thanks for the many messages of good wishes they are receiving."

Back-Bencher Praises A-G For Action in Sommers Case

Ringling praise of Attorney-General Robert Bonner and his actions in the Sommers affair was heard in the Legislature Wednesday from a new government back-bencher.

William Speare, elected in the Cariboo riding by-election last September, said he was thankful for the attorney-general's refusal to release the Butler RCMP report.

He said he resented the "sordid appeal" made to other Social Credit back-benchers to stand up and be counted following the action taken by J. Melvin Bryan in crossing the floor of the House.

Mr. Speare is one of the few government members to come to Mr. Bonner's defence in the Legislature.

"I am urged to say this because I believe to stay quiet might indicate a reserve of decision which I do not hold," he said.

"There has been an alarming lack of appreciation by this Legislature for the structure of the parliamentary system.

"I believe our people can be eternally grateful that our forefathers saw fit to separate the judiciary from the legislative and the executive.

"I was never more thankful for this than when I saw in this House proposals to make political use of a police document."

That was the technique that made Hitler powerful, Mr. Speare said.

"In all this villifying and

Eversfield Reveals Alleged Payments

By JOHN MIKA, Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Charles Eversfield today testified that a three-way split of money received in connection with forest management licences was arranged in 1954 between Robert Sommers and two companies.

Taking the stand for the third day, the former Pacific Coast Services Ltd. bookkeeper said six $500 bonds were given Sommers while he was lands and forests minister.

He also said that Sommers shared in two payments made to PCS by C. D. Schultz Ltd. and B.C. Forest Products.

Referring to a $15,000 payment by BCFP to PCS, he said: "H. Wilson Gray of PCS told me one third was to go to Schultz Ltd., one-third was to go to PCS and one-third was to go to Sommers."

"Whenever he talked about these transactions he referred to them as the PCS-RES-CDS funds."

He said that of $40,000 received by Pacific, from the Tahsis company for work done, Mr. Sommers was earmarked in the document to receive $11,250, and of $80,000 from B.C. Forest Products Ltd. a total of $20,000 was earmarked for the former minister.

Leopold Granted Parole

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, surviving member of the Loeb-Leopold thrill murder team of 1924, was granted a parole today.

The Illinois parole and pardon board's announcement added that "the location and occupation of subject to be investigated by parole supervision immediately."

This means Leopold can get out of prison after investigation of his arrangements for a job and a home. The division of parole supervision handles the investigation and there was no indication how long that would take.

Leopold, 53 now, has served almost 33½ years in prison for his part in the slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks in May, 1924.

Roger Touhy, one-time Chicago gang leader who was serving a long sentence for kidnapping and a prison break, was granted a parole.

Ex-Teamster Boss Faces Long Term

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck, Sr., retired and wealthy president of the Teamsters' Union, was sentenced today to up to 15 years in prison for stealing $1,900 from his union.

His son, Dave Beck, Jr., a short while earlier had been fined $2,000 and his sentencing deferred three years for taking $4,650 from the teamsters.

The sentence of up to 15 years is mandatory under Washington law. The minimum term will be set by the state board of prison terms and paroles.

Judge George H. Revelle and Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll both said they will recommend that Beck Sr. serve three years. Beck received the sentence without any show of emotion.

SEVER CONNECTIONS

In sentencing the son an hour before, Revelle had ordered Beck Jr. to pay court costs and to sever all connections with labor organizations.

either as an employee or an officer.

He said the restitution of the $4,650 should come from the 37-year-old Beck's own funds.

The younger Beck had testified during his trial that he had turned the $4,650 derived from the sale of two union-owned Cadillacs over to his father in the belief the money would be turned to the union.

Beck Sr. was convicted Dec. 14 of keeping $1,900 received from the sale of a union-owned automobile. His son was convicted Nov. 23 of pocketing the $4,650 received for the sale of two other union-owned cars.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A man who changes his political affiliations is always suspect. And Bill Assestine, as a former minister of mines in the B.C. Liberal and Coalition governments, has been received with caution on all sides since he returned to the legislature as Social Credit member for far northern Atlin.

Whether he was right or wrong in changing his party, most of us agreed after hearing his speech Wednesday night that he is a 100 per cent mining man.

Speaking towards the close of a wearisome day, he talked of nothing but mines and miners and said:

"I came back here to do something for the North and, before I leave, I'll do it."

Mr. Assestine made no apology for changing his party but offered a kind of explanation.

"I am an old-time Liberal and the Liberal Party has a lot of fine people in it. People ask me why I didn't stay with the team. Well, I began to look around and wonder if there wasn't a party that could do more for the province."

"It was for no other reason that I joined the Social Credit ranks."

Mr. Assestine added cautiously that no one ever tried anything without making mistakes and he confessed he had had doubts about the administration up north until he was reassured by Premier Bennett and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan that it would be improved.

"That means you are only with the team sometimes," interposed CCF leader Bob Strachan.

"When I was with the old team I played ball," answered Mr. Assestine. "When I quit, I quit cold. Now I'm with the other team I'll play ball, too."

Two leading lights of the B.C. Humor Society—John Post and Harold McDonald from Vancouver—sat in the public galleries Wednesday afternoon and declared they had lots of fun.

Before taking the plane to Victoria they sent a wire to their newest recruit, 83-year-old Tom Uphill.

"Would sure like to see the clambake. Will bring our own lunch. Would like to know, do visitors wear shoes in the legislature?"

Asked how people joined the B.C. Humor Society, John Post replied:

"They don't join us, we join them."

He explained that in order to be joined by the society you have to say or do something really funny.

So far the society has attached itself to only two members of the Legislature—Tom Uphill and Highways Minister Gagliardi.

But it is on the look-out for new recruits and Premier Bennett has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Dan Campbell, the school teacher member for Comox, managed to wrap up a little Canadian history with his contribution to the budget debate and in an effort to elevate the House said:

"I don't think the fathers of Confederation were too interested in politics."

"Ho, Ho!" responded CCF leader Strachan cynically.

Ignoring the interruption, Mr. Campbell insisted the fathers had set forth the democratic policies of good government.

Towards the end of his speech, Mr. Strachan remarked:

"Now I know why people complain about the calibre of our schoolteachers."

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Aid to Good Students Favored

By BEN CROW
Western Research Surveys

The great majority of people in Greater Victoria would like to see both financial assistance and moral encouragement given to bright university students.

More than nine citizens out of ten would approve of the federal government seeking out persons of scientific ability with a view to encouraging them to attend a university.

Eight out of ten would approve of the government paying the tuition and, if necessary, the board of students in engineering, mathematics, and the physical sciences.

But Russia's Sputniks are not the prime reason for this attitude. Almost as many persons would approve of the federal government paying the costs of all students with outstanding ability.

A poll of 100 representative homes also revealed a wide variety of opinion and unanimity of interest. (Every respondent had an opinion.)

Some of the ideas expressed may be grouped as follows:

1. Assistance should be given in the form of scholarships.

2. Only students of ability requiring assistance should be helped; those with means don't need help.

3. Students receiving substantial assistance should agree to reside in Canada.

4. The government should supply free tuition, but not board.

5. Some sciences, like medicine, are of equal or greater importance than engineering or the physical sciences.

6. We need scientists, and other trained persons are necessary. Look at Russia!

7. We should not be stampeded into emphasizing science. Other studies are important too.

8. This program would make taxes too high. There would be too many free loaders.

9. Students should not be required to work for the government upon completion of studies as a condition of help.

10. The only qualifications should be ability and sincerity. Family influence should not be allowed to enter into decisions of acceptance.

11. All students should have assistance whether they have ability or not.

12. There are ways and means of going to university now if a person wants to badly enough.

13. Many persons have ability but are still not worthy of assistance.

14. Assistance should be given all students, but discontinued if they cannot prove their worth at university.

15. Partial aid should be given if needed, but this should be partially repaid.

Here are the questions and answers:

"Would you approve or disapprove if the Ottawa government..."

(a) Paid the tuition at university and, if necessary, the board of all students with outstanding ability?

Approve 76 Disapprove 24

(b) Paid the tuition (and board) of proven students in engineering, mathematics and the physical sciences?

Approve 82 Disapprove 18

(c) Actively sought out persons of scientific ability and encouraged them to attend university or extend their university training?

SPINNING THE SPORTS SPHERE...

Gene ("I used to be very conceited but now I'm the nicest guy and the best rasser you ever met") Kiniski may gain much of his lequacy from his mother. The big guy who created such a ruckus at Memorial Arena the other night when wrestling made its season's debut, is noted for his eagerness to enter any discussion that concerns Gene Kiniski. His oral artistry must have been acquired through heredity. His mother has been a successful aldermanic candidate in Edmonton on several occasions.

Bearpaw (Gene—not Julia) was quite put out when he arrived in Victoria and discovered that promoter Nick Zubray had not arranged a television interview.

"How come," Kiniski stormed, "ain't I on television?" Try as he could, the promoter couldn't quite get in the last word as he attempted to pacify Kiniski. "Don't give me any excuses," roared Bearpaw. "All you had to do was tell those TV guys that I was coming!"

Apparently, he does know which end of a TV camera is up. He reads fairy tales to kiddies on a children's show in New York.

Jack Humphreys, who came out of nowhere to become chief scout for the ever-building New York Rangers, put on his mukluks and long underwear the other day to check this winter's prairie crop of hockey players, paid some nice compliments to two of the NHL team's stars... both happen to answer to the name of Andy.

"Bathgate is a super-star and will be one of the game's greats," Humphreys said, "and Heberton is a good, honest player who gives you 101 cents for your dollar every time he's on the ice, and I mean that sincerely." Humphreys also said Muzz Patrick is anxious to build a farm system that is second to none... he also picked Regina Pats (a Montreal farm) of the Saskatchewan league and St. Catharines Teepees, a Chicago-sponsored club, to compete for Canadian junior hockey honors this winter...

ANDY HEBERTON.

The man behind the $50,000 Centennial Open at Vancouver's Point Grey Golf and Country Club are doing the big event up right... they've signed a Lloyd Muir as a public relations and publicity chairman and the man appears to be on the ball... Cougars' Stan Baljuk, who now will sit out the balance of the season because of his unfortunate leg injury last weekend, is a firm believer in wrist-strengthening exercises... at the insistence of his junior hockey coach, Black Jack Stewart, Stan went out and bought a wrist-strengthening gadget and noticed a slight change, for the better, in his shot after several weeks... but what really convinced him, however, was his first visit to a golf club after the hockey season... "I could belt the ball 260 to 280 yards... before starting on those exercises, I was lucky to hit it 240."

When Matt Baldwin brings his Edmonton rink to Memorial Arena for the Canadian curling championships March 3-7, the lead on his rink will be kept busy renewing old acquaintances... the lead, Bill Price, is perhaps better known to Edmonton sports followers for his basketball and baseball ability than for his curling... before he joined the Baldwin rink last year, the poker-faced Price had been rated as one of Alberta's all-time great basketball guards... he was no slouch at second base on the ball field... Price played with Victoria players Reg Clarkson and Bernie Anderson with the old Edmonton Cubs... led by the name of Art Worth also happened to be playing in the same league... Price, who previously was unable to step into a curling rink during the winter months because of his basketball commitments, is "sold" on the curling game now...

When the Western Hockey League clamp down on the number of "cheap" assists being given away?... scorers are much too free in handing out helpers... and did you ever notice that it's the poor club curlier—and not the champions—that always take a half-hour to figure out which shot to try?... And usually they miss... There should be a 20-second rule in curling to cut down the three-hour games... city amateur golf champion Laurie Kerr is beating the drums for the Cougars' golf tournament March 16... anyone can enter... for $3.

Victoria Boxers Head for Seattle

Brian O'Hare, 118, and Al Curtis, 140, will carry Victoria's banner to the annual Golden Gloves boxing competition, starting in Seattle Friday night.

O'Hare is considered by many as one of the leading fistic prospects in B.C. at the present time.

Victoria Sharpshooter Heads New Gun Group

The province's skeet gunners have banded together in a move designed to give the sport more teeth when biting into provincial shooting affairs.

The British Columbia Skeet Association, formed in Vancouver last weekend, has elected Robert "Dib" Noble, of Victoria, a former provincial champion, as its first president.

Vice-presidents chosen were Bill Johnston, of Victoria, and Len Parker, of Vancouver. Ken Bodwell, of Vancouver, is secretary-treasurer, and Miss Beryl Trewitt, of Vancouver, is recording secretary.

One of the main aims of the association is to improve tournament standards and sponsor an annual British Columbia championship, as well as register provincial and other tournament scores.

The group also intends to supply all clubs with annual records and act as a clearing house for all British Columbia meets in an attempt to prevent clashes of times and places.

They also hope to be in a position of giving provincial skeet shooters a strong, unified voice in all Dominion, international and Olympic matters.

The Victoria Gun Club was given the nod as the site for the British Columbia skeet meet. Dates have not yet been finalized, but it is planned to hold the meet in August.

Plans are already under way for a series of shoots to be held annually in each of the 11 skeet clubs in the province.

United Spirit Shines Brightly

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Manchester United defeated Sheffield Wednesday, 3-0, in a drama-packed English soccer cup match Wednesday night—United's first game since seven of its stars were killed in the Munich plane crash Feb. 6.

A sellout crowd of 62,000, many of them wearing black ties and armbands, turned up at the Old Trafford Stadium to cheer the United. Youngsters replacing the dead or injured veterans, produced the spirit that made United one of the world's best teams.

YOUNGSTERS SCORE: United led, 1-0, at half-time on a goal by 18-year-old wing Seamus Brennan. Brennan got the second goal in the 10th minute and 18-year-old centre forward Alex Dawson made it 3-0 with a goal six minutes from the end of the game.

It was the sort of victory that would have brought a smile to the face of Manchester manager Matt Busby, now lying injured in a Munich hospital.

Most of the reserves were youngsters Busby had discovered playing in junior soccer. "This was our memorial to the boys who died at Munich, and also to those still lying injured in hospital," said goalkeeper Harry Gregg.

Gregg, 23, and fullback Billy Foulkes escaped uninjured from the Munich crash and both played Wednesday night.

Before the match Gregg said: "The thing we want to show the world tonight is that Manchester United will rise again."

Backing the youngsters was the experience of players such as Gregg, Foulkes, back Stan Crowther and inside-forward Ernie Taylor.

Crowther was purchased from Aston Villa for a reported £20,000 only an hour before the kick-off. Taylor joined Manchester from Blackpool at a transfer fee of about £8,000.

Brennan took over on the left wing at the last minute. Originally it had been decided to play 19-year-old Reg Hunter.

In Munich, four United players heard a radio commentary of the match. A hospital official said "They were terribly happy."

The wives, relatives and sweethearts of the injured players were told of the United victory at a Munich hotel.

Ed Missed His Birthday Present

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—The "4,000 jinx" hung over Eddie Arcaro today at Santa Anita Park, but Johnny Longden, the millionaire jockey, booted home his 5,092nd winner Wednesday. Balked for two days in a drive to score his 4,000th winner, Arcaro had three mounts for this afternoon and needed just one victory to reach his target.

Eddie has had tough luck for two days. On Tuesday he had six mounts but he could win only once to reach 3,999. Wednesday, his 42nd birthday, he had four mounts and only bagged two seconds, ran unplaced and his fourth mount was scratched. Longden rode his winner by Media Via to victory in the booting home Alberta Ranches' the day. The millionaire jockey, it was Longden's only win of the day. The Millionaire jockey who has ridden more winners than any other jockey in history, is slowly rounding back into form after suffering a broken leg which sidelined him for several months.
